VICTORY APPEARS SURE FOR LAURIER AND RECIPROCITY

Canadian Election Thursday, O'Laughlin Says, Will Result This Way.

TALKS TO MANY LEADERS

Gives Tables to Show Where Majority Probably Will Lie in Commons.

LIBERALS ARE FEELING CONFIDENT

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Quebec, Canada, Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Unless there is a complete reversal of sentiment from that which has been displayed up to this time it is the confident prediction of competent political observers that Liberalism and reciprocity will be the twin victors in the elections of next Thursday morning.

Since my arrival in Canada I have been meeting leaders of the government and the opposition, journalists who have been in close touch with every development in this polyglot situation, and politicians, and have attended political meetings where a good opportunity presented itself to ascertain the temper of the people.

The conclusion derived therefrom is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier, has won his fight. His majority may not be as big as it was in the parliament dissolved some weeks ago. But it will be a majority which will assure the ratification of the reciprocity agreement.

Some figures given by Conservative and Liberal observers indicate the majority which Sir Wilfrid will have behind him will be in the neighborhood of forty, though his champions claim it will be greater even than this.

How Changes May Occur.

In the parliament recently dissolved the Laurier majority was forty-five. The strength of the two dominant parties in that parliament was as follows:

Province—	Conservative.	Liberal.
Ontario	50	36
Quebec	13	53
Nova Scotia	6	12
Prince Edward Island	1	3
Manitoba	8	2
Saskatchewan	1	9
Alberta	3	4
British Columbia	5	2
Yukon	..	1
Totals	88	133

The prediction made of the results of the elections five days hence is:

Province—	Conservative.	Liberal.
Ontario	52	34
Quebec	16	49
Nova Scotia	4	14
Prince Edward Island	1	3
Manitoba	1	9
Saskatchewan	1	9
Alberta	2	5
British Columbia	5	2
Yukon	..	1

Conservatives Challenge Figures.

The Conservatives do not admit any such victory for the Laurier forces. They will not be surprised should the maritime provinces, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island return handsome Liberal majorities, since reciprocity is strong among the fishermen, lumbermen and apple growers of the sections named. Nor do they expect gains in the wheat growing provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, in view of the benefit which will accrue to the farmers of that section through the proposed free interchange of their products.

In Alberta one of their own candidates, John Herron, who has been a member from McLeod, has been forced by public sentiment to declare himself for reciprocity. This defection, however, the Conservatives hope, will be offset by the public sentiment excited by the alleged scandal involving Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, in connection with the Canadian Pacific railroad and public lands. It is charged that Oliver personally benefited in the sum of $69,000 as a result of this deal, a charge which is being investigated by a parliamentary committee. Oliver admits a deposit of $69,000 to his personal account, but emphatically declares it had no connection with the land matter nor with the Canadian Pacific.

May Be Campaign Money.

After the election it would surprise no one should it develop that the money was obtained by Oliver for the Liberal campaign fund, but it is obviously impolitic for the government to admit anything of the kind in the height of the campaign. The Liberals expect nothing from British Columbia and will be content to hold the two seats they have. The premier of British Columbia, the Hon. Richard McBride, is the idol of the province, a strong, forceful man, who, it is freely stated, will be chosen instead of R. L. Borden as the premier of Canada in case of Conservative success.

If the Hon. William Templeman, minister of inland revenue, is returned from British Columbia the government will be satisfied. Templeman has no strength to speak of and his campaign is described as feeble.

In the other western provices, where the Grain Growers' association, something akin to the national grange of the states, is powerful, the Conservatives would be glad to hold what they have, but fear they will lose supporters, especially in Manitoba, which has

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—More sharp changes in temperature over northern and central districts of the country during the coming week were forecast in a bulletin issued tonight by the weather bureau.

A disturbance now central over the plains states will advance eastward. It will be preceded by warm weather and followed by a change to colder weather. This cold will likely cause frosts by tomorrow or Tuesday in the northwestern states, and by Wednesday in the lake region, the upper Mississippi valley, and the northern plains states.

It will be attended by showers tomorrow in the great central valleys and tomorrow night or Tuesday in the middle Atlantic and New England states. Another disturbance which will probably cross the country is promised to appear in the northwest Wednesday. It will move eastward preceded by rising temperature, attended by local rains and followed by a pronounced change to lower temperature.

HUNDREDS FALL IN VIENNESE RIOTING OVER FOOD PRICES

POLITICS PLAYS BIG PART

ENFORCE RIGID MARTIAL LAW

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, Sept. 17.—Rioting, resulting primarily from the high price of foods and the other necessaries of life, today reached almost the proportions of a revolt against the government.

In a half score of fights between the rioters and the soldiery in all parts of the city, hundreds of persons were killed and wounded. The exact extent of the casualties is unknown. The rioters, led by political agitators, erected barricades in the streets, and numerous rifle volleys and saber charges were needed to dislodge them.

Many of the rioters carried firearms and the soldiers suffered a heavy loss from their fire. Others of the soldiers and police were struck down by missiles thrown from the house roofs and upper windows.

Political Agitators Busy.

That the movement was not altogether a sudden outbreak on the part of those angered by the high prices of foods, but was at least in part instigated by plotters for political purposes, was shown by the fact the great mass of the people were cheering for "revolution" and shouting out their applause of the Portuguese for overthrowing the monarchy.

The officials took notice of the political menace in the situation and large bodies of troops were thrown in cordons around the imperial palace and government buildings. Tonight these troops still are on duty and others are guarding all the approaches to the inner city.

A large section of the city is under martial law, and the soldiers and police are enforcing the most rigid rules to prevent the congregating of people in crowds. Even the passage of persons, singly, through the streets is forbidden without special permission of those in command.

Throngs Hear Fiery Speeches.

The disorders started after more than 200,000 persons congregated in various parts of the city to take part in a Socialist demonstration against the high prices for the necessities of life. The largest of these meetings was held outside the rathhaus. It was attended by 50,000 persons. Fiery speeches were made demanding that the government permit the importation of foreign meat, and take other measures to remedy the conditions which have resulted from the prohibitory increase in the price of food products.

After the speeches it appeared that all of the members of the mob had concealed stones in their pockets and with these missiles they bombarded the windows of the rathhaus. The police attempted to check the attack but only succeeded in drawing the missiles upon themselves. There were fierce clashes between the police and the rioters until noon when it was decided to call out a part of the garrison and a regiment of cavalry was sent against the mob.

The appearance of the troops intensified the wrath of the rioters, who shouted:

"We want no military. We want bread."

Cavalry Charges Mob.

Three separate charges were made by the cavalry before the mob was dispersed and then it was not dispersed for long. Reinforcements came from other parts of the city and the rioters stoned everything in sight. Clashes between the police and the mob continued throughout the afternoon.

Besides smashing windows in all directions the mob wrecked a café and demolished an automobile standing in the street. The rioters tore down the palisading in the rathhaus park, from which they removed the seats to build barricades.

The cavalry charged these barricades repeatedly, but with little effect, and the stormy scenes were not ended until the infantry was called out and ordered to fire upon the mobs. At the first volley many rioters fell, either killed or wounded. One hundred of the mob leaders were placed under arrest.

Trouble in Outer Districts.

The firing by the infantry ended the trouble in the city, but it was renewed in the outer districts, especially in the quarters where live the working classes. The rioters attacked the house of a priest that had been barricaded with overturned street cars, and smashed the street lamps so that at nightfall they could not be lighted.

The rioting in the Ottakring quarter was the most serious. The troops were obliged twice to fire into the crowd and many rioters fell bleeding to the ground. Later the mob, dispersed by this attack, reunited behind barricades in the principal streets in the Ottakring districts and made a desperate stand against the troops. The rioters were aided by the householders in the districts, who hurled missiles of various kinds on the soldiers from the upper windows of houses.

It was late tonight before a semblance of order was restored in this district. There are fears of a renewal of the scenes tomorrow morning. It is rumored that the government will proclaim a state of siege.

Socialist Leaders Urge Order.

It is difficult to say how far today's outbreak was due to the Socialist organization which has often proved its ability to conduct demonstrations in good order. It is supposed

DAWSON '11—FORTUNE HUNTER.

Dear Mother: Fortune favors the Busy! The boss knows me by sight now and upon three different occasions he has honored me by inquiring my name. It won't be long before he knows me both ways at once, and then is when Fortune will begin to take notice of her humble suitor. Fifty years from now the historians will say: "At about this point the fortunes of the future money monarch underwent a change. His wages were raised to the proportions of a salary and it was noticed that a large smile overspread his classic features."

Of course, coming back to earth again, I haven't had a raise yet and I haven't done anything to deserve one, but I'm on the job every consecutive minute and am taking a real interest in the work. I have a theory, as yet unexploded, that these things will count in the long run and that some day the boys will want a man for a big place and will say to the manager: "How about this young fellow Dawson? I've been watching him for some time and I think there's something to him." So you see, mother, I've got it all figured out and when the call comes I'll be within hearing distance.

I'm afraid you'll begin to think that my sole object in life is to get rich, and I don't mind confessing that it was when I came up here. My one dream was to make a lot of money and then go back home and drive up and down Main street in a gilded hack. I wanted to see old Mr. Allcott, who never noticed me in his life, hustle down the steps of the bank to greet me as an old time friend, and to have Nell's father invite me to sit on the bench with him at the courthouse. That would have been glory enough for one lifetime.

But somehow I've changed my mind since then. I still want to get rich, of course, but, first of all, I want to do it in a way that we both can be proud of. There's something about money that hardens people who think of nothing else, and I don't want to get the disease. I believe I'd rather be like old Judge Courtright down home, with all his friends and high ideals, than any rich man I know. You may be sure that if I ever do make a fortune there won't be a cent of it whose source I wish to hide or the method of its acquisition concealed. Why, there are people up here, with more money than they know what to do with, who own property which is rented for all sorts of improper purposes. I sometimes wonder how they can let their children enjoy money that comes from such sources. I'd rather be just comfortably rich and feel serene in my own mind than to have barrels of money without the respect of my neighbors.

"Scads" Allcott doesn't agree with me. We had quite a talk about it last night. He says this is a commercial age and everybody looks up to the man who has the stuff. A big pile is the hall mark of success and a man is a fool who doesn't go out and get as much as he can. Every man ought to look out for number one, and, if anybody gets in the way, climb over him. He says when he makes more than he wants he will become charitable. "Scads" is certainly a chip off the old block. And you know how much everybody down home loves old Allcott. If he lost his money tomorrow there wouldn't be a person who would sympathize with him.

With these few remarks I'll close before the letter needs 4 cents postage. I'm going to try to come down in a week or two, so please fatten up a chicken or two and have an o. f. kiss and hug ready. Loads of love to all. CHARLEY.

CAR KILLS CHILD; CREW IS MOBBED

POLICE DRAW REVOLVERS

Hundreds of infuriated Italians laid siege to a street car crew yesterday afternoon after a 5 year old girl had been run over and fatally injured on Milwaukee avenue.

"Kill them! Kill them?" shouted the members of the mob. "They have killed a little girl."

Police squads from the East and West Chicago avenue stations were rushed to the scene of the accident. Revolvers were drawn and the Italians who were attempting to climb into the windows of the car where the conductor and motorman were hiding were driven back. The car doors had been locked. The crowd finally was dispersed.

Child Dies at Hospital.

The child, Selva Sali, who lived with her parents at 628 Milwaukee avenue, was hurried to the county hospital. She did not regain consciousness, dying from the effects of her injuries just before midnight. She was the daughter of Isadore Sali.

The accident happened at Ohio street and Milwaukee avenue. The child, who was about to purchase a balloon, started to walk across the tracks, not anticipating any danger. It is said that she walked slowly, with her head down. The street car was coming fast.

A mob quickly formed. Each newcomer in the throng was apprised in Italian that the motorman had "killed a countryman's baby."

"I don't like the way they're jabbering out there," John Organ, the conductor, said to A. Guglielsen, motorman. "Until the police come, let's lock up the doors."

This protective measure was jeered by the mob.

"We want you," they shouted to Guglielsen. "You killed the little girl."

Pursued Through Crowd.

Pushing around the car, one man finally grasped hold of a car window and was quickly boosted by others. But the man never gained the inside.

Policeman Michael Driscoll had wedged through the crowd and seized the man by the leg, pulling him back to the street.

While Driscoll was struggling with the Italian, another took the policeman's revolver from his hip pocket, darting through the crowd. Driscoll pursued. The throng was so dense that the man could not escape. Driscoll caught him and recovered his revolver and was about to arrest him when the crowd surged between the two. It was found that all of the cartridges in the gun had been removed.

Detectives Christopher Hughes and William Drennan reinforced Driscoll and were experiencing difficulty in holding the crowd when the riot squad of ten men from the East Chicago avenue station arrived. A cordon of policemen was placed around the car. Guglielsen was taken to the West Chicago avenue station and later released.

MORGAN HELPS RELIGIOUS CRUSADE THROUGHOUT LAND.

Whole Country Is to Be Covered by Movement Which Starts in New York City Today.

New York, Sept. 17.—[Special.]—The men and religion forward movement, which has the support of J. P. Morgan, will send out tomorrow its battalion of thirty trained men and formally open a nation wide compaign to bring the Christian life to men and boys. In the afternoon there will be a meeting of 500 clergymen and laymen to plan for the New York campaign, which will fill eight days in the middle of next month, and in the evening James G. Cannon will give a dinner to the thirty religious workers at the Metropolitan club.

On Friday the men who will take the active part in the propaganda will be in Chicago. Then they will go to a country place near Minneapolis for a week's conference with the originators of the movement and on Oct. 2 will begin the public preaching of the laymen's religious campaign in Minneapolis.

Every large city in the United States and Canada will be visited in the campaign, which will last until May 1.

"This will be the most expensive religious movement of modern times," said Henry Reed, representing the local committee. "For more than a year preparations have been made under the general direction of the committee of ninety-seven, representing foremost financiers, merchants, manufacturers, and men of affairs in the United States. They are going to put through this religious campaign with the same energy and thoroughness with which they have put through great undertakings in the business world. The movement is thoroughly undenominational."

The trained workers will divide into groups for the smaller cities and will unite for the larger towns, such as New York, Chicago, Boston, and others. They will work in unison to show men that the principles of Christianity are applicable to every day life and modern business affairs.

SITS IN CHURCH: LOSES $400.

While Samuel Remington was attending church at Polk street and Ashland avenue, some one reached into his pocket and took out a wallet containing $400 in notes.

The notes were non-negotiable. Remington yesterday reported his loss to the police of the South Maxwell street station.

FIRE ALARM AT M'CORMICKS.

Fire in the residence of Harold F. McCormick, at 1000 Lake Shore drive, was reported to the fire department yesterday, but when firemen arrived at the McCormick home no fire could be found.

No one seemed to know who sounded the alarm.

Mr. McCormick is treasurer of the International Harvester company and son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller.

STORM HITS CITY; PARKS DAMAGED

LIGHTNING IS INCESSANT.

An electrical storm, accompanied by a wind of high velocity and an intermittent display of lightning, swept over Chicago and neighboring suburbs shortly after 1 o'clock this morning.

The force of the wind was sufficient to uproot trees in the parks and along a number of streets, to loosen yachts from their moorings in the harbor and along the lake front, and to blow down signs and scaffolding in the downtown district.

The breaking of the storm was marked by flashes of lightning, blinding pedestrians. The rain fell in torrents, accompanied by hail.

Northwest Hit First.

The gale came from the northwest and first struck Austin and surrounding territory. Havoc among the trees and plants in Humboldt and Garfield parks was the first damage reported, the vegetation being blown down or uprooted.

Scaffolding erected in front of Powers' theater on Randolph, near La Salle street, surrounding a canopy being constructed over the entrance, was blown down by the wind. The rain had driven pedestrians from the street and no one was injured by the flying debris.

Lightning struck the pavement at South Kedzie avenue and West Van Buren street and burst a large water main. The streets were flooded by water from the main.

Many Windows Broken.

Windows in all parts of the city were reported broken by the wind and hail. A large plate glass window in the store of Albert Hofeld, South Dearborn and Quincy streets, was blown out by the wind.

As the storm progressed a number of fires, caused by bolts of lightning, were reported. The loss was said to be slight.

OCTAVE CHANUTE'S ONLY SON DIES FROM BURN ON HIS ARM.

Chicago Man Succumbs to Blood Poisoning in Hospital at Mount Vernon, Ill.—Will Be Buried in Peoria.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Charles D. Chanute of Chicago, only son of the late Octave Chanute, "father of the aeroplane," died this morning in the Egyptian hospital here. His death was due to blood poisoning, caused by a cigaret burn on his arm ten days ago.

Mr. Chanute, who was 44 years old, inherited much property from his father. It consisted mostly of stock in a wood preservative company, which had one of its plants at Mount Vernon.

INSPECTOR HUNT FIGHTS FOR $1,500 WITH EX-GAMBLER

GETS LIST OF 300 PLACES

These Are Said to Have Been Protected Instead of Being Raided by the Authorities.

GRAFT IN SLOT MACHINE TRUST

Disclosure of a row over the payment of a $1,500 "account" between Inspector Nicholas Hunt and Harry Brolaski, a former gambler, formed the sensational development yesterday in connection with the city civil service commission's investigation of police protected gambling and other forms of vice.

The altercation took place in the inspector's private office last Friday morning, and the results of the interview form two separate stories. According to the friends of the police inspector, Brolaski was compelled to receipt a statement for "services rendered," which formed the basis of the argument, and then was "thrown out" by the inspector without being paid.

According to the Brolaski version, the inspector received his visitor graciously, objected to the size of the bill, and finally settled by giving the former gambler $400. Brolaski then signed a receipt in full. Brolaski and his attorney, Percival Steele, who mailed the statement to the inspector and a similar one to Chief McWeeny, it is said, declare that the money was due for furnishing the police lists of places where gambling was operated.

Gave Evidence to Wheelock.

Brolaski has been furnishing evidence to Special Counsel William W. Wheelock in the investigation, and has told that the police have a list of 300 gambling places furnished by him. He declared that instead of raiding these places the police have been protecting them.

It is said that previous to last night Brolaski claims to have been paid more than $400 on the big account by the inspector for work done and it was further said that Brolaski claims that his dinner conference with Chief McWeeny a month ago had to do with the settlement of this same account. Brolaski last night refused to talk about the happenings last Friday.

"How did that get out?" he said with a laugh. "Did I get the money? Did I get kicked out of the office? Say, I can't answer such questions now. But say Brolaski is satisfied with the results of that interview. Ask the inspector how he feels."

Inspector Hunt characterized the Friday demand of Brolaski as "blackmail." He said Brolaski did perform services for the department by helping the police to locate Fred Irish, one of the chief witnesses in the Vincent Altman labor murder case. The inspector said further that he had paid Brolaski $300 for these services.

Brolaski and Hunt Meet.

According to the story told by friends of the police official the inspector received a bill some days ago for $1,500, on which was credited two sums of $200 and $100. The Brolaski bill was forwarded by Percival Steele for Brolaski. The inspector, it is said, called Mr. Steele over the telephone and said he wanted to see Brolaski. Brolaski went to the detective bureau headquarters Friday morning.

Hunt is declared to have told Brolaski that he was trying a "shakedown" game, that he owed him no money, and insisted that Brolaski receipt the statement in full without the payment of further money. Brolaski, it is said, complied with the demand and left at once.

"I had paid Brolaski money, in all $300," the inspector said yesterday. "That was a plenty for the work he had done in helping us to find that labor murder case witness. I paid him $200 some time ago and another $100 just before I went north, the latter part of August. He sent word to me that he needed money to go east with and I sent that amount for him, considering that it made enough or more than enough for his work for us.

"The fact that we paid him this money is nothing more than the usual practice in police cases. We will pay any one for getting information for us that we want in a case. As to the claim that he prepared a gambling list for the police, I don't think there is a word of truth in it. I never saw or heard of such a list."

By some persons in close touch with the present investigation it was believed that the affair of last Friday may have been a trap, as Brolaski had a witness with him who watched the former gambler go into the inspector's office.

Wheelock Gets More Tips.

Special Counsel Wheelock was at work all day hearing new stories from persons who had information about vice conditions in the city. During the afternoon he disappeared for several hours and is said to have gone to a private residence, where he was given valuable tips for his investigation.

A new tip as to the reason for the police suppression of the robbery of "Johnny on the Spot's" gambling house at 1912 Wabash avenue two weeks ago was brought in during the day by investigators. It was declared that the operator of the gambling place is a relative of Ike Roderick, professional bondsman, who has the strongest of political affiliations in the First ward.

The lights in the place were shot out by a man who had been robbed of his money in a gambling game, he said. The gunman seized over $200 from a crap table after the lights went out and ran into the street. He was overtaken, the money recovered, and he was badly beaten. He then was arrested and taken to the Twenty-second street police station, but was not booked, and his case has never been brought to trial.

"Johnny on the Spot's" place was reported by investigators to be running as usual early yesterday morning with three stuss games, six poker tables, and two big crap games in operation.

Pastors Act as Sleuths.

Information which is shedding light upon the gambling situation, it was learned, is reaching the commission from unusual sources. Militant ministers of the city have in a number of cases become practical investigators and the results of their first hand investigations are in the hands of the inquiry committee. One of these men, the Rev. Elmer L. Williams, 159 Locust street, the pastor of the Grace M. E. church, is said to have personally investigated the facts in connection with forty lawless saloons and gambling houses.

A number of Hyde Park ministers and churchmen from other parts of the city are interested in an association which for some time has been engaged in an investigation of conditions, and their reports are to be given to the commission.

It also is said that the facts in some fifty cases where private detective agencies have been able to get gambling losses of men and boys refunded by keepers of places with the help of the police are in the hands of the commission investigators.

It is said that these specific cases alone will be sufficient to indicate the community of interest between the police and the gamesters with such positiveness that no further evidence will be necessary to substantiate trial board charges against police officials in many parts of the city.

Slot Machine Trust Aired.

Inside facts concerning the organization of a slot machine trust in the city a few weeks ago and the entire history of the enterprise, together with the cogent reasons for not installing the machines, are known to be in the hands of the investigators.

This was to be a deal for the benefit of the big politicians alone, it is said, and a tribute of $2 a week was to be distributed among the politicians for the concession. Trouble first came when the trust representatives declared that they would consider no such scheme unless the police got a share of the tribute fands in order to get their good will.

Then the political powers evolved a new rate schedule of $5 a week, it is declared, of which $3 was to go to them and $2 to the police. This was considered satisfactory until the trust people were given to understand that they would have to stand any chance losses through the destruction of the machines in occasional necessary raids. The trust men decided this was too much tribute and risk for the estimated profits.

One police inspector is accused of being especially interested in the slot machine movement, going so far as to get together a number of machines of his own for installation in the saloons of his friends.

Walsh Case Up Today.

Lieut. William Walsh and Policeman Charles McClellan must appear for trial this afternoon on the charge of allowing gambling near Comiskey ball park on Labor day. Seventy-five policemen have been subpœnaed as witnesses by the civil service commission. Attorneys for the defendants will try to get a continuance on the grounds that the complaint is not specific enough.

Four men were arrested early yesterday morning while shooting craps in the rear of the saloon of Peter Junkstis, 2158 West Twenty-third street. They were booked on a gambling charge, Junkstis being accused as keeper of the game. All were released on bonds.

HARRISON OPENS CITIES' CONGRESS

WOMAN'S WORK SHOWN.

Exhibit Indicates What Is Done to Clean Town; Schools Have Big Display.

PROGRAM FOR THE DAY.

Doors open at 10 a. m.
Formal opening of congress, 2 p. m.
Welcome by Association of Commerce, Harry A. Wheeler.
Welcome to Chicago by Mayor Carter H. Harrison.
Address by Mayor John E. Reyburn of Philadelphia, Pa.
Address by Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Mass.

The international municipal congress and exposition of Chicago will open this morning at 10 o'clock. The finishing touches of the exposition were being put on yesterday and last night the Coliseum was in condition to receive visitors. The chaos of machinery, boxes, pictures, workingmen and women noticeable on Saturday had passed away, and order, fresh paint, clean floors, and well arranged walls were there instead.

When Mayor Carter H. Harrrison and John M. Ewen, chairman of the congress, announce today that the first big exposition of its kind ever held in the west is officially opened to the public everything pertaining to the exposition will be in order, the demonstrators will be in place, the tables will be straining under the weight of instructive literature, and the cities, through their representatives to the congress, will be ready to learn.

Today will be Mayors' day, and a host of the chiefs of the large cities, who have come to Chicago to exhibit the wonders, improvements, and beauties of their own cities, and to take away the knowledge of the best things in other cities, will gather together in the congress room of the Coliseum to exchange greetings.

Official Opening at 2 P. M.

The official hour of opening is 2 o'clock this afternon. The morning will be spent in an informal inspection of the exhibits of the cities and the manufacturers. The opening exercises will be held in the large room at the south end of the Coliseum, which will be known as Congress hall. John M. Ewen, as chairman of the exposition, will speak the first official words of opening.

Following him will be John MacVicar, commissioner general of the congress; Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Mayor Carter H. Harrison, William Hudson Harper of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who will read a message of greeting from Sir T. Vezy Strong, lord mayor of London; Darius A. Brown, mayor of Kansas City and president of the League of American Municipalities; William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York City; John E. Reyburn, mayor of Philadelphia, and John F. Fitzgerald, mayor of Boston. Each of these men will make short speeches on the general subject of the congress.

It is expected that the number of mayors who will be present tomorrow will count into the hundreds, as the heads of almost all of the large cities of the country will be present, and mayors and city officials from most of the progressive cities in the middle west, whether or not they are officially represented with space at the exposition, will be present.

The women of Chicago, in fact, all women visitors to the exhibition, probably will feel proud over the showing that their sex will make at the congress. Those who think the affairs of a municipality are managed entirely by men will be enlightened upon the subject by a trip to the balcony exhibits. Practically the entire east balcony of the building is taken up with the work of women or of children who have been under the instruction of women.

Schools and Woman's Work.

A large part of the section is filled by the exhibit of the Chicago public schools. Women instructors have done most of the work in connection with the exhibits, which fill about ten booths. The work comprises everything from the baskets made in the schools for the blind to the furniture made in the technical schools and the fancy work done in the department of household arts.

Following the exhibit of the schools the Chicago Public library booth is next in line. The work in this exhibit was superintended by women. The booth of the Juvenile Protective league is just south of the library exhibit.

The exhibit of the Woman's City club is a direct appeal to the women of the municipality to do their part in keeping the city clean. Pictures and posters give an idea of the work the club has done along the lines of water and sewerage, bathing beaches, city waste, clean air, housing and sanitation, food and markets, police stations and jails, and schools and playgrounds. The exhibit boldly preaches municipal housekeeping.

Possibly one of the most farreaching and influential exhibits will be that of the United States government bureau of the census. It is in charge of Le Grande Powers, chief statistician of the census bureau. Mr. Powers is an expert on uniform municipal accounting and his whole exhibit will advocate a uniform system.

Tells Police Sergeant Sad Story—Banished from Czar's Kingdom—Tries Army—Now Works for Railroad.

The entire estate of Count John Alexander von Orloff, some time of the empire of Russia, was confiscated last night by a pickpocket on a Chicago and Northwestern train. The count's estate consisted of $15, his week's wages from the North Shore Electric company. The count lays wires.

When he reported his loss to Desk Sergeant Snyder of Evanston the count told the sad story of his life. It seems that he is a blood relative of the czar and a descendant of the Count Orloff who presented the Empress Catherine with the famous Orloff diamond. The count explained that he had been compelled to flee Russia.

"I came to America," he said, "and joined the United States army. I was going to become a general. The officer under whom I was stationed envied me and had me tried for desertion. I was acquitted, but it settled the army for me. I have decided now to become a capitalist."

Will "Stockyards Beautiful" Look Like This?

The big Chicago packers have under consideration plans for the beautification, architecturally and otherwise, of the Union stockyards. Optimists intimate that when the beautifiers are through the landscape at the "yards" will rival that of aristocratic north shore suburbs. It is said that even the squeals of the pigs will be softened into melodious music, while the smells, hitherto complained of, will become a fragrance. The artist sets forth this idea in his sketch.

RODRIGUEZ WINS LABOR POST

Chicago Federation Names Him Delegate to National Body.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION.

Hot Fight Marks General Election; Plumbers' War to Be Settled.

At the annual election of officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday William E. Rodrigues of the Painters and Decorators' union, was elected delegate by a small majority to the American Federation of Labor convention. Rodrigues was the socialist candidate for mayor at the city elections last spring. The entire election centered around the choosing of the convention delegate. Most of the federation officers were elected without opposition.

The importance of the choice of the convention delegate arose from the fact that the interests of the coming convention will be concerned largely with the final solution of the old controversy between the Chicago plumbers and steamfitters as well as other jurisdictional strife between unions.

Rodrigues's Majority Is Small.

Rodrigues was opposed by John Carroll of the steamfitters and joiners' union, and George F. Golden of the teamsters. He won with a majority of 28 votes.

John Fitzpatrick of the horseshoers' union was reelected president of the Chicago federation without opposition. Oscar F. Nelson of the postoffice clerks' union defeated Arthur McCracken for the office of vice president by a small majority.

E. N. Nockels was unanimously reelected recording secretary, and F. G. Hopp financial secretary, and Thomas F. Kennedy treasurer, were also chosen unanimously.

Mrs. Robins Heads Board.

Mrs. Raymond Robins was elected chairman of the new executive board. The other four members are F. Donoghue, D. Enright, Charles S. Grassl, and J. A. Kain.

STRICKEN WHILE ON LINER.

Florence Klein of Chicago Victim of Appendicitis While Returning from Europe on Cincinnati.

New York, Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Florence Klein of Chicago, a first cabin passenger on the liner Cincinnati, arriving today, was stricken with appendicitis on the voyage from Europe. The ship's surgeons did not attempt an operation on account of the rough weather. She was brought ashore on a stretcher. The liner had a stormy passage, several waves sweeping the decks.

MANY KILLED IN VIENNESE RIOTS

that the Socialist leaders today overestimated their ability to handle the crowd.

It appears that the Socialist leaders, although they encouraged the demonstration, had refused to take any responsibility for the maintenance of order and had appointed no committee to control the proceedings. Hence everything devolved upon the police.

The working classes which have been imbittered for the last eighteen months by the general increase in the price of food, the raising of their rents, and increased taxation, would not listen to the pleas of the Socialist leaders to avoid violence. At the height of the disorders at the rathhouse the Socialist leader David tried to calm the crowd, but an infuriated mob set upon him and beat him into unconsciousness. He was removed to a hospital streaming with blood. With his loss the others were unable to check the violence.

Violence in France.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The numerous meetings of labor unions in various parts of Paris to protest against the high cost of living had heavy police guards today. When the crowds left the meeting places they often made demonstrations in the market. Disorder prevailed in Menilmontant market.

Protestants who proceeded toward another market found the way barred by a strong force of police. Rioting followed, in the course of which three men and two women were arrested.

Women were particularly violent at Clichy and troops are aiding the police there. More arrests were made at Orlel as the result of the rioting on Wednesday. There were demonstrations also in various towns and cities of the provinces.

PIERCE'S BRIDE GOT $300,000?

Newport, R. I., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Bessie Chapman Pierce, who married Roy E. Pierce, son of H. Clay Pierce, in New York last November and who shortly afterward became the predominating figure in an annulment suit, left today for French Lick, Ind., accompanied by her mother and a maid. It is said she has settled her difference with the Pierce family for $300,000. It is reported the annulment case will come up in the Supreme court of New York in the fall.

Mary Randall, 23 years old, and Victoria Randall, 22 years old, negresses, were severely burned yesterday when Freeman Johnson, a negro, threw a kerosene lamp at Victoria Randall in a house at 213 West Twenty-sixth street.

Dog Breaks Chain; Bites Boy.

Four year old Louis Lichteman, 902 Winthrop court, was bitten twice on the face by a fox terrier yesterday. The animal is owned by Samuel Surlies, who lives in the same house with the Lichtemans. Policeman M. Christenson shot a dog, supposed to be mad, when it ran at the heels of pedestrians near the Chicago avenue police station yesterday. The policeman first caught the dog with a lariat.

RAILROAD STRIKE GROWS IN IRELAND

EFFECT FELT IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A serious railroad strike has started in Ireland and is causing renewed fear that the simmering dissatisfaction of the laboring men in the united kingdom will boil over.

The strike began to spread late on Friday night and early Saturday morning on Ireland's largest railroad, the Southern and Western. The freight handlers refused to load timber that had been handled by non-union members.

Many others joined the strikers Saturday and traffic has been dislocated. Some freight men of the Great Northern, the Midland, and the Great Western have gone out in sympathy. On Saturday their strike seemed confined to Dublin, but today it spread and now the Southeastern is the only railroad running into Dublin that is not affected.

Trouble Starts in Limerick.

Trouble followed quickly in Limerick. All the men at Inchicore, the Great Southern's main freight depot, have struck. Numbers of men have gone out at other places.

The strikers have notified the manager of the Great Southern they will not work unless they are promised exemption from the handling of freight consigned by firms who are engaged in disputes with their employes. The manager has replied that he will not allow the men to decide what freight is to be handled by the railway.

The leader of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants in Dublin, upon the receipt of this ultimatum, declared a general strike on the Great Southern. The leader added that the battle gage had been cast and that this will lead to another national strike.

England Feels the Effect.

The employés of the Midland and Great Northern are undecided as to the action they will take, though many of their Dublin men are out.

The effects of the strike, though of such short duration, are felt in England, as not a single steamer from Dublin has reached Holyhead today, though usually there are five ships every Sunday laden with cattle, dressed beef, and other foodstuffs.

Massmeetings were held today in many places in England in order to express dissatisfaction with the railway companies' interpretation of the agreement of Aug. 19.

Drops Dead on Sidewalk.

The body of a man found on the sidewalk in front of 3122 Cottage Grove avenue last night is supposed to be that of John Robinson, 39 South Aberdeen street. He died of heart disease, it is believed.

MEETINGS TODAY ON 6 JUDGESHIPS

Leaders of Both Parties Will Discuss Superior Court Nominations.

G. O. P. TO MAKE NO SLATE

Judge Owens' Militant Attitude Toward Sullivanites Seems to Have Disappeared.

Republican and Democratic leaders today will confer upon candidates for the six Superior court judgeships, for which nominations will be made tomorrow in the two conventions.

The Republicans make no slate for the convention and will hold no formal caucus today, as had been considered, but the leaders of the south, west, and north sides will meet informally and are expected to reach a tentative agreement upon two candidates from each of the three districts. In the convention it is expected that the committeemen will unanimously support the district choice for nominees.

In the south side former Municipal Judge McKenzie Cleland is expected to have a place as the candidate from the town of Lake, while Hyde Park is expected to select former Judge W. N. Gemmill of the Seventh ward or former Judge Jesse Holdom of the Sixth. Noble B. Judah of the Second ward and George H. White of the Sixth also have strong backing.

Barrett Lorimer Candidate.

Former Judge E. A. Dicker of the Thirtieth and Andrew Redmond of Oak Park are said to be ruling favorites among west side politicians, with Edward S. Day being pushed strongly by friends in his home ward—the Twentieth. George F. Barrett of the Eleventh ward is the only announced candidate with Lorimer backing.

In the north division the Twenty-first ward has three strong candidates in William A. Vincent, Charles M. Foell, and former Judge John H. Hume. Millard R. Powers of the Twenty-fifth ward is another with exceptionally strong backing. A. W. Brickwood of the Fourteenth ward has strong support and a host of friends working in his interest.

The Democratic slate is expected to be fixed tonight at the La Salle hotel, where the "sifting" committee of twenty-one will gather to canvass the material offered in the fifty-two, and possibly additional candidates, who will enter the race today. While the ticket as a whole is expected to be overwhelmingly Sullivan in complexion, it is believed that in the interest of harmony at least one nominee will be given to the Hearst-Harrison faction.

Sexton Urged for Place.

Ald. Peter Reinberg, the Harrison member of the "sifting" committee, has put forth Daniel G. Ramsay as his choice for one of the nominees. It is not unlikely, however, that Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton may get into the race today. Mr. Sexton has not yet announced himself as a candidate, but many of his friends are urging his selection as a member of the slate.

It is conceded that the Dunne wing of the party will be allowed one place on the judicial ticket, and the man who has been all but picked for it is Clarence N. Goodwin of the Seventh ward. Mr. Goodwin was one of Edward F. Dunne's chief advisers in his primary campaign for the mayoralty nomination last spring.

It was learned yesterday that the militant attitude of County Judge Owens and his election board toward the regular Democratic organization's plans for the convention tomorrow has entirely disappeared, and unless some rift appears today everything is expected to be in perfect harmony on convention day.

BODY, ANKLES TIED TOGETHER, FOUND IN LAKE; UNIDENTIFIED.

No Marks of Violence and Police Believe Man a Suicide—Sixty-one Cents in Pockets of Clothes.

The body of an unidentified man, with the ankles bound together with rope, was found floating in the lake at East Fifty-fifth street yesterday. No marks of violence were found on the body, and the police believe the man committed suicide, binding his feet himself.

The man apparently was about 55 years old, 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighed about 225 pounds. He had a brown mustache, slightly tinged with gray, and wore a black serge suit.

A street car transfer, dated Saturday, Sept. 16, punched for 4 o'clock in the afternoon on an east bound Fifty-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue car, was found in his clothing. A handkerchief marked with the initial "S" also was found in a pocket with 61 cents and a cheap watch.

The body was removed to Mines' undertaking rooms, 1225 East Fifty-fifth street.

Ernest Ellis, Bartender, Said to Have Admitted He Gave 'Frenchy' Weapon to Kill Saloonkeeper.

In confirmation of the confession, afterwards repudiated, of William (Frenchy) La Trasse that he had killed John Mullany at his saloon, 2101 West Sixty-third street, last February, comes the report that Ernest Ellis, an alleged accessory, has confessed, implicating La Trasse.

Capt. Nootbar of the Englewood police station got a new "tip" yesterday and Ellis was rearrested. He is a bartender. Ellis was found at his residence, 3242 Parnell avenue. After a six hour examination, it is said, he made a statement charging La Trasse with Mullany's murder, and admitting that he furnished La Trasse with the weapon.

Following Ellis' statement he was taken before Municipal Judge Fry and charged with being an accessory before the fact.

BONFIRE CAUSES BOY'S DEATH.

Lad Is Fatally Burned Despite Neighbor's Efforts to Save Him.

Roy Nelson, 5411 Fifth avenue, died yesterday from injuries received while playing about a bonfire in the rear of his home. He lighted a piece of paper and his clothes became ignited. His screams attracted the attention of a neighbor, who put out the fire, but could not save the child from fatal burns. He was 3 years old.

Mrs. Albertina Saul, 80 years old, fell from a window of her home in a second flat at 4951 South Ashland avenue last night and was killed. She was leaning out of the window listening to a band playing on the street corner when she lost her balance.

GIRLS TO LEARN SHOPPING

PARTY TO GO MARKETING.

Sharp Bargaining Held Necessary Accomplishment for Housewife.

"How to get the best of a peddler" is the unofficial title of a new marketing course which has been installed in the curriculum of the Chicago School of Domestic Science, 177 North State street.

The new art—or science—is to be taught by practical demonstration. At 10:30 o'clock each morning four or five of the girl students will be escorted to South Water street by a teacher versed in the dubious ways of the professional peddler. The peddler will be used as a demonstration field.

Peddler—But I cannot sell the cabbage for less than the 15 cents.

Student (consulting book of instructions)—I will give you 10.

"You can have it two for 25. More than that I cannot do. There is my wife, miss, and the seven children. Ah! I cannot give it to you for less than I have said."

"I will give you 10."

"But, miss—"

"I will give you 10."

Finally Reduces Price.

"It will ruin me, miss, but I will give it to you for ten." [Business of wrapping up cabbage.]

"Ah—never mind, I didn't wish to buy it, you know."

"What! The miss does not desire to buy it?"

"Gracious, no. I was just practicing the fifth exercise of the sixth lesson on marketing as taught by the school of domestic—" [Peddler faints.]

Among the young students of practical preparation for matrimonial duties who will take the new course are Miss Margaret Herrick, Miss Isabel Chandler, Miss Edith Bellas, and Miss Margaret Conover. According to Mrs. Lynden Evans, president of the school, practical marketing should form a part of every girl's education for the position of housewife.

Says Marketing Hard Lesson.

"It isn't so easy as it would seem, either," said Mrs. Evans last night. "Marketing is conducted just as it was a hundred years ago. It is still a question of beating down the tradesman from an outrageous price to a reasonable one. Many women go to the market once and never go again because they saved nothing by the trip. Our graduates will be instructed enough in trading to make the weekly trip to market a profitable journey."

LIONESS SHUNS OFFSPRING; DOG BECOMES FOSTER MOTHER.

Emma Eames of Lincoln Park Zoo Refuses to Nurse Cubs—Bereaved Bulldog Undertakes Job Successfully.

There is one dog in Chicago that will feel at home in the African jungle if her master ever decides to take her there. She is at present engaged in rearing two lion cubs to full grown lionhood. The cubs are the latest addition to Keeper Cy De Vry's charges at Lincoln park. They were born last Saturday morning to Emma Eames, but the lioness flatly refused to nurse her offspring.

Keeper De Vry was in a quandary. The two lion babies piteously proclaimed the fact that they were hungry. Finally De Vry learned of "Lady Slopes," a Boston bulldog, whose eight puppies had been drowned. S. H. Seely, her owner, was willing to let her become a foster mother to the lion cubs when Keeper De Vry told him of it.

"Lady Slopes" was taken to the lion house and introduced to the diminutive kings of the jungle. After a preliminary sniff or two she wagged her tail approvingly. The cubs ceased to whine, and twenty minutes later they had forgotten that such a thing as hunger ever existed.

RUNAWAY HALTS AUTOS ON MICHIGAN BOULEVARD.

Horse, Frightened by Loose Rein, Overthrows Buggy and Two Persons Are Hurt.

Many automobiles were stopped yesterday afternoon on Michigan boulevard and Twenty-first street when a runaway horse upset a buggy in which Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McKinley, 213 East Twentieth street, were riding. Edward McCarthy, 710 Michigan avenue, was struck by the falling vehicle.

Mrs. McKinley was not hurt. Mr. McKinley's left leg was broken and he received a scalp wound. Both he and McCarthy were taken to St. Luke's hospital.

DRUMMERS VIE FOR CHARITY

Play Annual Ball Game; Women Venders Coax Cash Out.

EASTERN STARS WIN OUT.

Proceeds Likely to Reach $2,000; to Be Devoted to Worthy Causes.

Deserting the sample case and the hand satchel for the afternoon, 200 traveling salesmen of Chicago yesterday did mighty deeds at the fourth annual traveling men's charity baseball game at Comiskey park.

The game between the Eastern Stars and the Western Stars has become an annual event among the selling fraternity and nearly 2,000 friends and patrons turned out for the occasion. The sum realized from the game will be devoted largely to the support and maintenance of THE TRIBUNE hospital fund and the Daily News fresh air charity. Other smaller charities will also be included in the list of beneficiaries.

The Eastern Stars, composed of traveling salesmen representing local firms in territory east of Chicago, was captained by Samuel Clark. The Western Stars, representing Chicago and local territory, was led on the field by David May. The Eastern Stars romped away with the game by the score of 12 to 2.

Women "Drummers" Coax Cash.

The ladies' auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Harris, assumed complete control of the concessions and the "selling privileges." Twenty-six feminine "drummers" covered the stands, dispensing cigars, flowers, candy, cigarets, and other necessities at standard prices. The rates they quoted were for cash, immediate delivery, no discount. Yeoman service in swelling the fund was given by the ladies. They proved to be the only "drummers" in the park, as "shop talk" was barred among the erstwhile knights of the grip.

Comiskey Gives Park Free.

Charles A. Comiskey aided the benefit affair, as is his annual custom, by extending the privileges of his ball park free of all charge.

Over 200 children from the Chicago Home for Jewish Orphans, the Home for Jewish Friendless, and the Marks Nathan Home for Jewish Orphans attended the game as guests of the traveling men. They were in charge of L. Deutelbaum and Dr. J. Feuerlicht.

The executive committee, headed by President Joseph Harris, hopes to clear nearly $2,000. The executive committee, in charge of the entire affair, is as follows: President, Joseph Harris; vice president, Ben Wolff; secretary, Julian Gusfield; treasurer, Al Claybaugh; directors, David May, Samuel Clark, Michael H. Isaacs, Samuel Yatter, Julius Kaufman, Julius Solomon, I. A. Steiner.

He gave his name as Samuel Shaffer and his address as 2519 Washington boulevard. He was seen taking a package last night from the office of the Wells-Fargo Express company in the new Chicago and Northwestern railroad depot, it is said.

WOMAN TRAPS FIVE THIEVES; POLICE LET THEM ESCAPE.

Caretaker Finds Robbers in Home and Calls Bluecoats—Burglars Go Out Back Door as Officers Enter Front.

Five burglars who broke into the home of Mrs. Charles Fitz Simons, widow of the late Gen. Charles Fitz Simons, 122 South Ashland boulevard, shortly after 9 o'clock last night were surprised by the police, but escaped after a chase of three blocks, in which half a dozen shots were fired.

Mrs. Margaret Moore is caretaker of the house while Mrs. Fitz Simons is in Florida. She returned at 9:30 o'clock last night and found all the lights burning. Without entering she went to a nearby telephone and notified the Lake street station. The patrol wagon, in charge of Policemen McHenry and Rowe, was sent to the house.

Upon the arrival of the policemen Mrs. Moore unlocked the front door, and as the policemen entered the burglars ran out the back door.

The policemen chased the men into the alley at the rear of the house and south to West Adams street, where they separated and got away.

Struck by Street Car.

J. H. Gilvary, 55 years old, was injured at 1 o'clock yesterday morning when he was struck by a Van Buren street car at South Clark and West Van Buren streets. He was treated at the Harrison street station.

ASK 5 MILE "DRY" LIMIT NEAR FORT

Pastors in Glencoe, Waukegan, and Other Suburbs Unite in the Movement.

MANY BARS WOULD GO.

Petition to Be Presented to President Taft Oct. 28, When He Comes to City.

By preconcerted arrangement, almost every Catholic priest and Protestant minister in Glencoe, Waukegan, and in all intervening suburbs injected into his sermon yesterday a demand for a five mile "dry" radius about Fort Sheridan and the North Chicago naval training station.

Behind the move is the Rev. Father E. W. Gavin, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Waukegan, and the Lake County Law and Order league. Dr. Thomas Quayle, a retired Methodist minister, and Dr. George McGinniss, pastor of a Baptist church at Waukegan, are working with Father Gavin.

If the five mile movement is made a law it will mean the abolition of sixty saloons in Waukegan, twenty in North Chicago, and two in Deerfield, leaving the nearest feasible location for saloonkepers at Libertyville.

Taft to Hear Petition.

Present developments would indicate that the plan is backed by federal approval. It was stated yesterday that President Taft would stop Oct. 28 at North Chicago to receive a petition asking his influence in the passage of the "five mile" law.

The 1½ mile limit now in effect was created three years ago as a compromise for a three mile limit. The passage of the law drove every saloon out of Highland Park, and compelled a number of North Chicago saloonkeepers to move their places. The passage of the new law would force permanent prohibition upon Glencoe, Braeside, Ravinia, Highland Park, Highwood, Fort Sheridan, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff, North Chicago, Waukegan, and several smaller villages. Roundout, for instance, will lose two saloons.

Petitions for the new limit were circulated yesterday at the churches. Thousand of others will be scattered through Lake county this week. The plan is to have them signed and present them to the president when he goes through North Chicago on his western trip.

Admiral Ross Favors Plan.

Admiral Ross, commander of the naval station, expressed his approval of the proposed bill.

"The present limit," he said, "is too small. It is one of the smallest, in fact, in the United States. Even a five mile limit would be too short."

It is understood that the idea of the new limit originated with Father Gavin, following the refusal of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to remove some amusement booths directly across the street from his church. The incident occurred three weeks ago, during the Eagles' carnival.

BOYS DEVISE WAY TO CHEAT TELEPHONES; ONE ARRESTED.

Gang Calls Number That Is Busy, Using Slug, and Receive a Nickel from the Box.

Small boys have learned how to swindle the telephone company. One was arrested yesterday, and it is said he dropped a worthless slug in a telephone box and received a nickel in exchange.

It is said a gang of boys is operating on the west side. One calls a number and engages the party in conversation while his companions call the same number and receive nickels from telephone boxes in exchange for slugs on the operator's report that the line is busy.

Frank Barnette, 11 years old, 1426 West Fourteenth street, is held on the complaint of E. J. Wolta, a druggist at 1501 West Twelfth street. The druggist declares he has had to redeem hundreds of slugs.

One threw a cobblestone through a plate glass window of the store. The bills were a window advertisement. The burglars were seen by Miss Dorothy Little, night cashier in a restaurant at 26 West Monroe street, and she notified the police.

HALTS MEAL; NEEDS EXCUSE; HE GETS HIMSELF 'PINCHED.'

Edward Balmer Courts Arrest as Speeder—Placates Host and Wins Sympathy of Waiting Guests.

How to placate your host when you're late at a dinner engagement? Find a policeman, break a law, and pay your bond. It's a tried experiment. See Edwin Balmer, 1015 Hollywood avenue, for testimonial.

Mr. Balmer was late for a dinner party one night last week. There was nothing to do but hurry to his host and give an excuse. But what excuse? That he was detained by business, the truth?

"I hurried into my dinner clothes, then into my motor car, and up the street toward Evanston, where the dinner was to be," Mr. Balmer told yesterday. "On the way I passed a policeman. That gave me the idea. I decided that the next policeman I met I would turn around and speed past him so that he couldn't help 'pinching' me.

"Well, it worked fine. I drove the officer over to the station in a hurry. I was booked, charged with driving at thirty-seven and one-half miles an hour, and then released on bond. My friends were still holding dinner for me and were delighted to hear of my experience. And all it cost was the $5 fine."

100 CRYING BABIES TERRIFY BURGLAR

Thief Awakens Youngsters in Raid on St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum.

LEAPS FENCE; GETS AWAY

Couldn't Have Run Faster if the Whole Chicago Police Force Were After Him.

The concerted howling of 100 healthy lunged babies at St. Vincent's Orphan asylum, La Salle avenue and West Superior street, early yesterday morning routed a burglar who had entered the children's dormitory there and sent him racing out of the building and down the street at a rate that couldn't have been faster if he had had the whole Chicago police force after him.

The lights were dim on the second floor of the dormitory, where the babies were asleep, when the burglar quietly crawled in at a window and dropped noiselessly to the floor.

Thief Overturns Chair.

It was so dark that the thief could not see, so he groped. Groping, he overturned a chair. Then things began to happen. Miss Anna White, one of the nurses, awakened by the fall of the chair and frightened by sight of a figured half discerned in the darkness, screamed.

Instantly every baby in the big room awoke, startled, cross and crying. The babel of yells that ensued galvanized the burglar into action. Grabbing an armful of clothes, he fled to the window, leaped to the fire escape, and plunged down the stairs.

Jumps Fence and Disappears.

The burglar jumped over the rear fence and was soon lost from view. The screams of the babies awakened everybody in the orphan asylum. In a few minutes a score of policemen were hunting for the burglar. No trace of the fugitive was found.

RODGERS STARTS "SEA-TO-SEA" TRIP

COUSIN ALSO FLIES FAR.

Naval Air Expert Crosses Chesapeake Bay; Robinson to Soar Down River.

New York, Sept. 17.—C. P. Rodgers, third aviator to start on the transcontinental flight for a $50,000 prize, rose from the race-track at Sheepshead Bay at 4:25 o'clock this afternoon, swept in a wide circle over the grounds, and then headed northwest until his white winged flyer merged into a bank of clouds over the Jersey meadows and disappeared.

Rodgers drove a Wright biplane and carried messages from Mayor Gaynor to the mayor of San Francisco and from the commanders of the eastern division of the army and navy of the commanders on the Pacific coast. Before his start his machine was christened by Miss Amelia Swift of Memphis, Tenn.

Crosses Broadway High in Air.

Flying over New York City, Rodgers crossed Broadway at 4:45 at a height of 3,000 feet and covered the mile from that point across the river in less than a minute. He was flying as steadily as a clock when he soared over the city, and evidently was not bothered by the "airholes" which have troubled other aviators.

New York saw Rodgers for the last time at about 4:50 o'clock, and at 5:07 he was reported as passing over Campbell Hall Junction, sixty-six miles from the start, headed for Middletown.

Lands Eighty Miles on Way.

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 17.—After an initial flight of about eighty miles in his proposed aerial voyage from New York to the Pacific coast, C. P. Rodgers reached this city and landed at 6:18 o'clock this evening. He had covered the distance from the Sheepshead bay racetrack in one hour and fifty-three minutes.

Engine Delays "Jimmie" Ward.

Oswego, N. Y., Sept. 17.—James J. Ward, coast to coast flier, did not start from here today because of delay in receiving a new motor which he had ordered. The motor is here tonight and Ward expects to have it placed in the aeroplane early tomorrow. He then will attempt to fly to Buffalo, 187 miles west of here. He will follow the Erie tracks. The aeroplane damaged in yesterday's accident has been repaired and, except for the motor, was ready for flight today shortly after noon.

Fowler Near Death in Fire.

Colfax, Cal., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Aviator Robert G. Fowler narrowly escaped death here early this morning when the hotel in which he was stopping caught fire. One man was killed, but Fowler's mother awakened him in time to escape the flames. He plans to resume his transcontinental flight tomorrow or Tuesday.

Naval Aviator Crosses Water.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 17.—Traveling at the rate of nearly a mile a minute, for the most part over Chesapeake bay, Lieut. John Rodgers, aviation instructor at the United States Naval academy, this morning flew from his parents' home in Havre de Grace to the navy's aviation field at Greenberry Point, across the Severn river from the naval academy. He covered approximately fifty-two miles in one hour and three minutes.

Robinson to Fly Down River.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 17.—Hugh Robinson, the aviator, has been nominated by the Transmississippi River Flight association to make the Minneapolis to New Orleans hydro-aeroplane flight of 1,917 miles, which, when accomplished, will set a new world's record for cross country flying. There were more than forty applicants for the honor.

Robinson will start from the surface of Lake Calhoun, in the heart of the residential district of Minneapolis, Wednesday morning, Oct. 11. He will fly for a purse of $30,000 raised by the river cities in which he is to give hydro-aeroplaning exhibitions.

His course down the river will be in easy stages, with the start timed for the evening of the opening of the deep waterways convention in Chicago. Every effort will be made to make the flight of the maximum benefit to science as well as to call attention to the length and the possibilities of the Mississippi river and the importance of the cities located on it.

Charles F. Willard Hurt.

Streator, Ill., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Charles F. Willard had his new aeroplane smashed into scraps this afternoon at the second day of the aviation meet, but escaped from the spill with a lacerated hand and a severe shaking up.

BRITISH AVIATOR KILLED.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Lieut. R. A. Cammell of the British aviation school at Farnborough was killed today while making a flight at Hendon, which is six miles from the center of London.

STUDENTS PLAN TO ISSUE PAPER

Oak Park High School Pupils Declare Mud Will Come Out—Bid Defiance to Principal.

Mud, the paper which the Oak Park High school students have advertised to publish, will be issued on Wednesday unless plans now made fail. At a meeting of the alumni of the school yesterday it was decided to back the students in their defiance of Principal John Calvin Hanna. New handbills announcing the publication will be distributed today. Members of the alumni are said to have assisted in preparing new editorials for the paper.

Woman Struck by Motorcycle Team.

MRS. HARRY ABEL.

Mrs. Harry Abel, 1024 Independence boulevard, was dangerous hurt when she was struck by a motorcycle at Twelfth and Troy streets at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Her right leg was fractured in two places and she was internally injured. She was taken to the University hospital.

The motorcycle was ridden by two young men, who escaped. They were going thirty miles an hour. Mrs. Abel was on the way to her parents' home, 1122 South Troy street. She had just stepped off the curbing when the machine struck her.

The police are searching for the men. One wore a red sweater and a panama hat. The motorcyclists paid no attention to the woman they had run over, but kept on at a high rate of speed. Several persons rushed to Mrs. Abel's assistance.

At a late hour last night Mrs. Abel had not regained consciousness.

VICTORY APPEARS SURE FOR LAURIER

been a stronghold of their party in provincial elections. Yukon's single representative is certain to be Liberal in politics.

The keys, then, in the approaching elections are the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. This is not at all surprising, in view of the heavy majority which the representatives of these provinces have in the house of commons.

Two Provinces in Control.

Of the total of 221 members Ontario has eighty-six and Quebec sixty-five. Thus the two provinces have in the neighborhood of seven-tenths of the whole. To them, and especially to Quebec, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been devoting himself particularly. The Conservatives have been content to leave their campaign in Ontario to the local politicians and in Quebec to the Nationalists, under the leadership of Henri Bourassa, editor of the well conducted French journal, Le Devoir.

The eastern and western sections, save in the vicinity of Georgian bay, are expected to go strongly Conservative. There are well informed men who are certain the Liberals will win ten seats in Ontario, and if this should be the case Sir Wilfrid's majority will be swelled beyond his expectations. It has been one of the ambitions of his career to secure a majority of the Ontario representatives, but he has failed up to this time.

Quebec is a problem even to the most astute observer. There is no question that the Nationalist movement has gained great headway here.

EX-CANDIDATE CHARGES GRAFT.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—R. Leduc, Nationalist, who was running for parliament against Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Quebec, East, but retired last week, now declares his resignation was obtained by foul means. George H. Perley, chief whip of the Conservative party, has received this telegram from Quebec:

"Opposition Candidate Leduc makes solemn declaration that he was drugged and induced to sign resignation while under the influence. He repudiates the signature. Prominent men may be arrested Monday."

This news has caused a sensation here. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's election had been considered a certainty. Indefinite reports received here tonight hint at bribery, and the names of certain Quebec politicians are mentiond, but no details are obtainable. Laurier has represented Quebec, East, since 1877.

Semi-official estimates of Canadian election results have been obtained from both parties and they show the greatest possible difference in expected results.

Liberals are confident that the government will be returned and, after careful inquiry into the situaion in each province and every constituency, claim the Laurier administration will have a clear majority of sixty-three.

The estimates of the Conservatives have been made with equal care and they declare that the election next Thursday will give Opposition Leader Borden a clear majority of thirty-nine seats.

TAFT RESTS FOR HARD TASK AHEAD

Quiet Sunday Prepares Him for Two Days' Labor on Stump in Michigan.

FEELS GRIEF OF OTHERS.

Automobile Accident and Death of Pastor's Son Affect President.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 17.—President Taft spent a quiet Sunday here. With Secretary Hilles and Maj. Butt, he was the guest overnight at the home of Charles H. Strong. He attended church this morning, took an automobile ride through the city and suburbs this afternoon, and boarded his private car tonight.

He will arrive in Detroit tomorrow with two hard days of speaking in Michigan before him.

Affected by Pastor's Sorrow.

The president was deeply moved tonight when he learned that Henry W. Byrnes, son of the Rev. Thomas P. Byrnes, pastor of the Unitarian church where he attended services today, died last Friday. Before he died the boy called his father to him and said: "Don't let my death prevent your preaching before the president."

His father remembered, and although his grief was still fresh he preached before the president. Tonight Mr. Taft sent him a message of sympathy.

Saddened by Auto Disaster.

He sent a telegram expressing his regret today to H. M. S. Handy, president of the Syracuse chamber of commerce. It read as follows:

"I extend to the families of the deceased and to the management of the fair my heartfelt condolence and sympathy. I earnestly hope that the injured are recovering."

BRITONS BUILD BIG WARSHIPS.

Secretary Meyer Says They Are Not Reducing Size, as Was Reported Recently.

New York, Sept. 17.—No sign of any tendency among British naval authorities to favor reduction in size of warships was found by George Von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy, who returned today from a visit to the British navy yards.

Secretary Meyer was given every opportunity to study the British naval methods, and he came back impressed with the humane methods with which deserters and other military or naval prisoners are treated.

"There are building in England and other countries," he said, "large, fast, armored cruisers of 27,000 tons and twenty-eight knots speed, with which we have nothing to compare."

HARRIMAN BOOK BARES DEALS.

History of Financial Coups to Be Given in Biography Soon to Be Published.

New York, Sept. 17.—An official biography of Edward H. Harriman has been written and will soon go to the printer. It contains 250,000 words, and is the work of G. W. Batson.

The career of Mr. Harriman during the last fifteen years is a complete history of Wall street and in this biography the secret history of the greatest financial deals known to the world will be made public for the first time.

Mr. Harriman frequently talked these matters over with Mr. Batson, and on many occasions dictated statements to him. It was for this reason that Mrs. Harriman selected Mr. Batson for the task of compiling the biography.

EXPECT TO SAVE THREE MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE TODAY.

Rescuers in Colorado Shaft Laboring in Shifts—Work Slow and Dangerous—Food Lowered to Victims.

Leadville, Colo., Sept. 17.—If no further difficulties are experienced by the rescuers at work in the Morning Star shaft the three miners imprisoned in a drift below will be released by Monday morning.

The rescuers are laboring in shifts of six hours each, but the work is slow, difficult, and dangerous. The shaft is one of the oldest in the district, and there is constant danger of the old timbers breaking loose and starting a run of earth and rock.

The imprisoned men are making the best of the situation in the drift, 350 feet below. An iron pipe was driven to within thirty feet of the drift and food and hot coffee lowered to the men.

THOMAS H. CARTER OF MONTANA DEAD

Former United States Senator Succumbs to Lung Trouble in Washington.

HAD A NOTABLE CAREER.

Spent Twenty-two Years in Public Life in Capital; Stood Well with Taft.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Former United States Senator Thomas Henry Carter of Montana, for many years a notable and picturesque character in national politics, once chairman of the Republican national committee, and since last year chairman of the American section of the international commission, died at his home early today of infarction of the lungs. He was 57 years old.

Mr. Carter had been under the care of a physician for months. He was able to go about, however, and his ailment, a filling of the lungs with clotted blood, did not become acute until about a week ago.

A Baltimore specialist was summoned last Wednesday, and at that time the attending physician expressed confidence in the patient's recovery. But the malady became worse and death resulted at 3 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Carter and their sons, students at Georgetown university, were with him when he died.

Will Be Buried in East.

The funeral service will be held at St. Paul's Roman Catholic church in this city at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Interment will be at the Mount Olivet cemetery here.

Mr. Carter had a remarkable career. It extended over twenty-two years of congressional and official life at Washington. This embraced service as the first representative elected from Montana, two terms in the United States senate, and executive positions as commissioner of the general land office, chairman of the Republican national committee in the second and unsuccessful campaign of Benjamin Harrison for the presidency, president of the board of United States commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, and since last March chairman of the newly created "international joint commission, American section," especially charged with Canadian boundary matters.

Had Remarkable Career.

An Ohioan by birth, an Iowan by adoption, and a Montanan long before that territory was admitted to statehood, Mr. Carter jumped to the front almost from the outset of his work in congress.

Perhaps the most remarkable of all his forensic achievements was his defeat of a big river and harbor appropriation bill which he regarded as a political "grab" measure, during the McKinley administration.

President McKinley did not favor the bill and Mr. Carter, always a strong administration supporter, began a speech against it at 10:30 o'clock at night and talked continuously until noon of the day following, when the session of congress expired.

Shoes Worth Their Weight in Gold

That's a very broad statement—but I can prove it.

THE LARSON ANATOMIC STA-RIGHT SHOES

Are a Godsend to Humanity

One of my customers (a letter carrier) walked into my store the other day, and said: "Mr. Larson, the last time I was here I came on crutches. Now I can walk as well as ever—thanks to your wonderful shoes."

This man had been a nervous wreck, due to torn ligaments and broken arches, caused by ill-fitting shoes.

I made him a pair of shoes over plaster casts of his feet; put steel plates at the insteps to put the arch bones back in their natural positions; incased a canvas with whalebone stays in the uppers to support the ankles, thereby allowing the ligaments to mend, stopping the pressure on the nerves, allowing freedom of the muscles, and today the letter carrier is covering his route every day.

Made to measure, $12.00. With plaster cast, $15 & up.

PYRAMIDS BUILT BY THE YANGTSE

QUEER FREAK OF EROSION

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL.D.

S. S. SHUTUNG, Upper Yangtse, China, Aug. 18.—The morning of the third day on the perilous river brings relief from the oppressing heat of yesterday's sun and the labor of climbing against rushing waters in abysmal gorges. Dawn finds us leaving Kwei-fu. The river and land is enshrouded in mist and rain. For miles low water rapids are now only a broad, swirling whirlpool. The hills are gently rounded or undulating and cultivated to their utmost.

Then comes a change, a startling change, for which the Yangtse is famous. We are sailing between long series of monstrous stepped pyramids. They are so regular, so similar, it seems they must be the work of human giants drawing their inspiration from the west bank of the Nile.

This strange phenomenon is the result of two forces. The strata of rock are of about equal height, the river has planed the front surface down, leaving a lofty stone terrace of regular steps and a uniform slope backward as the top is reached. At fairly regular intervals rivulets from the hills behind have broken through, also leaving terraces. So the stepped pyramid form as seen from the river is well nigh perfect. I can look straight back between two pyramids and see a little white river leaping from ledge to ledge until it pours its white spume into the yellow monster, making more than twenty leaps before the final plunge.

Strata of Green and Red.

Looking back down the long series of pyramids, they lose their distinctive features. They are so close together, the spaces between look to be regular gashes in the face of a gently sloping wall of alternate bands, bright green, and deep brownish red. Nature painted the rocks red, but man has done his best to hide the scars under a coat of green, the green of young corn, of potatoes and wheat.

Here and there are clumps of trees, peach trees about a farm house, willow or cypress about a family tomb. A gay bit of a temple, a little village of half a dozen houses. Probably there is in all New England no land so poor as this; yet it is made the most of. It supports a numerous population. Surely man works harder here than donkeys do in Egypt, and seems fully as cheerful and as happy. There are no donkeys here, nor horses, cows, buffalo, wagons, carts, or wheelbarrows. The corn and wheat will be harvested by hand, stalk by stalk, husked by hand, and flailed and ground on a little hand-turned stone mill. They have not even a corn dropper.

Only the Shutung and the telegraph wire are new. Two single wires unite Szechwan's 70,000,000 with the outside world. The Shutung is an experiment. The railroad is a long way off. Primitive man has been quarrying rock, as his brother did in Egypt and India, by a series of shallow holes in the face of the rock. He inserts wooden pegs, wets the plugs and lets the expansion split the rock.

City of the Clouded Sun.

Vast hillsides packed with green knolls thickly strewn amidst them—stone-faced tombs. Here and there is a larger tomb, set in the midst of rocks and green wheat fields. Such is the burial ground of the City of the Clouded Sun, which hangs picturesquely from the side and crest of a long spur on the opposite side of a widish tributary which joins China's Father of Waters here. Mists hang on the mountains; it rains. Clouded Sun town is well named.

The river is like freshly poured glass; here placid, there boiling as though a mighty furnace were below. A high wall, so wide it is a boulevard, envelops Clouded Sun. By the water's edge are a hundred or so stone walls, all that is left after a fire. The façade of a mandarin's palace is a veritable museum of art in tile and paintings. The town itself is a museum of antiquity, a marvel of color and picturesqueness.

But just across the river is the rarest bit of all, a gorgeous green tile roofed temple with white walls and bits of color in the windows, the whole set in a triangle of deep green trees. What a place for a teahouse, you would say. What fun to climb that long flight of stone steps, cross the pretty arched bridge which spans a waterfall, and on lacquered benches by lacquered tables, in the midst of gilded gods and carved screens and painted and lacquered drums and bronze vases and to the odor of sandalwood burning in the big blue and white Kien Lung porcelain incense burner, sip tea, recite poetry, and then indulge in your favorite gambling game—as only Chinese know how to do.

There are Chinese aboard who like to watch the fallen devils eat with an iron fork and a savage knife. They have heard of such freaks, but never saw them. Girls especially often stand on the flat and gaze across at us in mild mannered astonishment. This same lady doesn't like it. Last night she rewarded a maid's curiosity by dashing a glass of water in her face. It was so uncalled for, so brutal that it even drew forth a remonstrance from her husband. The British colony in Chungking needs two gunboats.

In a Cash Country.

"All right, we'll go ashore anyhow. Bring your cash, for we are in a cash country." Our volunteer guide, a young Chinese passenger from Hankow, comes up with about five feet of battered coins strung on a coarse grass twist string. It looked like a roll of sausage, contained 2,500 coins, and was worth perhaps $1.

Our sampan works its way far up the river in still water, beyond a spur of black rock. Then we head for the opposite shore, two men working at the sweeps. The current carries us rapidly down stream and the city flies past; a long interesting panorama, for here is a village of perhaps, O, say 500,000. It is wonderfully built and occupies a lofty broken plateau divided by a rushing mountain torrent into two unequal parts. At the upper end is a wide shipbuilding yard, the most important of the Yangtse cypress junk factories. Both sides of the river are lined with fine yellowish craft. Behind the long walled city and its suburb rise broken mountains, their summits lost in the clouds. Two of the loftiest peaks are capped with monasteries. What a view there must be from one of these eyries!

Down the river and on the opposite shore stand two tall pagodas; their walls are white, only the projecting eaves of the successive roofs being of tile or stone. They seem against the dark clouds like lace columns of a lofty scaffolding.

We make for the tributary which divides the two towns. Our friend yanks a handful of cash off his string and without counting it chucks it down on the sampan floor. The boatmen protest—isn't enough!—he yanks off another handful and chucks it down, much of it falling between the boards to the water in the bottom of the boat. It was fine display—might have been a Brahmin throwing coin to a pariah; or a British lady sousing a Chinese maid for her impertinence.

CHENG TU TAKEN BY REBELS

Shanghai Hears Capital of Western Province Has Fallen.

HIGH OFFICIALS ARE SLAIN.

Viceroy Reported to Have Escaped and Fled With Family.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 17.—It is reported that the rebels have captured Cheng Tu, that high officials have been slain and that the viceroy with his family barely managed to escape and flee.

Government Troops Routed.

CHUNG-KING, China, Sept. 17.—Late advices from Tsu-Chau say that a detachment of cavalry numbering 100, which had left Cheng-Tu and had proceeded as far as the Lungcheni hills, was ambushed by the revolutionists, and routed. The survivors returned to Cheng-Tu.

The following day a stronger force of cavalry left the besieged capital and came into collision with the rebels. They forced their way through the besiegers and opened the road to Jen-Shou, fifty miles to the south.

Delayed Message Hopeful.

PEKING, Sept. 17.—The French and German legations have received Cheng Tu dispatches dated Sept. 10 and Sept. 11, describing the conditions in the city as tranquil, and declaring the troops are maintaining discipline and order. Neither dispatch makes any reference to the food supply.

It is believed that probably not less than 20,000,000 persons will suffer by the famine throughout the country the coming winter.

ETNA GOING BACK TO SLEEP?

Lava Flood Continues, but Italian Volcano Is Less Active.

OBSERVER QUITS CRATER.

Religious Procession Prays Publicly for Relief.

CATANIA, Sept. 17.—Although the eruption of Mount Etna seems to be losing something of its activity and the earthquakes are less frequent in occurrence, the immense flood of lava which has spread down the mountain continues its work of destruction. There are now five main streams, stretching for miles over the country.

Prof. Ricco, director of the observatory, who has spent two days on the top of Mount Etna for the purpose of making observations, returned to the observatory today.

New Cones Near Craters.

Several cones have formed near the new craters, varying from 65 to 100 feet in height. A new mount 300 feet high is emitting smoke and cinders.

Mgr. Arista, Bishop of Acireale, who came here at the beginning of the outbreak, continues his work of comforting and assisting the peasants. A great procession bearing a statute of Christ today marched in front of the advancing lava and offered prayers for the immediate cessation of the flow.

"Miracle" Upset by Lava.

Hundreds proceeded to the home of a blacksmith where it was reported a miracle had occurred. The lava had been diverted from this house, and the peasants believed that this was due to a picture of a saint hanging on the door. But this afternoon the lava stream again turned, destroying the blacksmith's home.

STOLYPIN TAKES TURN FOR WORSE

Peritonitis Sets In and Doctors Are Alarmed Over Condition.

FEAR OF RIOTS FELT.

Chicago Jewish Paper Hears Pessimistic News from Kieff Authority.

KIEFF, Sept. 17.—The condition of Premier Stolypin, who was shot by Dmitri Bogroff Thursday night, is causing his physicians alarm.

Peritonitis has set in and the patient's heart action has considerably weakened. A lengthy bulletin was prepared this afternoon by the physicians, in view of the change for the worse, as it was deemed advisable to inform the public of the true nature of the premier's wounds. This bulletin was as follows:

"A change for the worse in Premier Stolypin's condition set in last evening. Symptoms of local peritonitis were noticed, with indications of effusion of blood under the diaphragm. At 6:30 o'clock this morning the patient's temperature was 96.9, pulse 80, respiration 26 to 28. The temperature two hours later was 98.6, pulse 104, respiration 24 to 26.

Fails to Improve After Operation.

"The bandages were removed at 10 o'clock and the mouth of the wound was found to be in a satisfactory state. The bullet was felt under the skin and removed, a local anesthetic being employed. The patient stood the operation well in every way."

The premier showed no improvement during the day and the midnight bulletin, however, was not reassuring. It read:

"Late tonight M. Stolypin is still showing symptoms of peritonitis. Temperature, 98; pulse, 116 to 120; respiration, 28."

FEAR OUTBREAK AGAINST JEWS.

Outbreaks against the Jews are feared as a result of the attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin, and the situation in Kieff is uncertain, according to a dispatch received in Chicago yesterday from Russia.

A. M. Liebling, editor of the Chicago Daily Jewish Press, cabled to Prof. Mendelstrann, authority on Jewish affairs at Kieff, as follows:

"What effect has the attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin on Jews in Kieff? Is there any danger to our people? Answer at once. DAILY JEWISH PRESS."

Prof. Mendelstrann cabled back the message:

"Situation, to my sorrow, is extremely uncertain."

NEW STORY ABOUT OLD STONE

British Antiquarian Says Rock Moses Smote Is in London.

JACOB SLUMBERED UPON IT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—It has been left to the twentieth century to add one of the most amazing traditions to the many surrounding the famous "stone of destiny" which for six centuries has reposed beneath the British coronation chair. The most familiar of the medieval legends is that the stone was the one used by Jacob for his pillow at Beth-El.

Preaching today at Westminster abbey, Archdeacon Wilberforce astonished the congregation by quoting a well known antiquarian who has specially studied stones as saying that the "stone of destiny" is also the rock from which Moses struck water for the thirsting children of Israel.

The name of the antiquarian was not mentioned by Archdeacon Wilberforce, but he was quoted as saying that he was convinced that the stone was really Jacob's pillow. After its use as such it was considered sacred and was carried from place to place by the Israelites in their wanderings in the wilderness.

The antiquarian showed to the Archdeacon Wilberforce a cleft in the back of the rock from which he said he believed that the water had gushed after Moses had struck the stone with his staff.

The stone, it is believed, was taken to the temple of Solomon, and, after its destruction, to Jerusalem. From Jerusalem it was taken by Titus to Spain. Thence it reached Ireland, later was taken to Scotland and was brought to London by Edward I.

MONARCHISTS PLOT TO SNEAK INTO PORTUGAL IN GROUPS.

Plan to Reassemble When Across the Frontier and Have Arms Brought to Them by Smugglers.

LISBON, Sept. 17.—Late advices from the frontier say that, in view of the instructions issued by the Spanish government, the monarchist plotters against the republic have abandoned Galicia and are preparing to enter Portugal. They will proceed across the border without arms and have arranged with bands of smugglers to bring into Portugal all their arms and supplies and store them in caves in the mountains.

The royalists plan to pass the frontier at night singly or in groups, thus concealing their numbers, and they will reassemble on a date fixed by Capt. Couceire, the royalist leader.

The government hopes to prevent the reassembling of the monarchists by dispatching the republican troops, now concentrated at strategical points on the frontier, as flying columns to disperse the invaders.

The recent monarchist conspiracy unearthed at Vianna do Castello appears to have been more serious than at first thought. A great portion of the troops and many civilians were implicated.

It was planned to start a rising of the people of Vianna do Castello, Braga, and Oporto and massacre the garrisons in these cities the moment the royalists crossed the frontier.

An Extraordinary Gossard Model

THE FALL FASHIONS

Model 107, illustrated here, has a very low upper portion, yet with sufficient extension above the waist line to prevent any exaggerated softness in outline of bust, under arm and back, which is the objectionable feature of the bustless corset. It has flexible top clasps for pliability, and is designed with special regard for freedom and perfect ease at bust and diaphragm entirely eliminating the compression characteristic of other low bust corsets.

The skirt is long, with very flat hip line and back. An elastic section over the thigh allows very close fitting of lower portion when standing, yet yielding comfortably while sitting and preserving the same unbroken line.

This model in Silk Broche, $15
Other materials, $6.50 to $40

Any figure can be better fitted in a Gossard Front Laced Corset than it can be fitted in any back lacing corset.

Gossard Corsets are for sale in Chicago only at our two retail stores, where skillful corsetieres, instructed by our designers, will carefully fit you.

WANT TO UNITE 2 OLD CHURCHES

Talk of Amalgamation of the First and Second Presbyterian Revived Again.

WOULD LOSE A LANDMARK

Encroachment of Business Said to Have Caused Decrease in Attendance.

Talk of an amalgamation of the First Presbyterian and Second Presbyterian churches has been revived. The union discussed informally among church members would include the abandonment of the old home of the First church, the mother institution of all Protestant churches in Chicago. Since 1897 the move has been contemplated.

The encroachment of the business district on the church's location, at Twenty-first street and Indiana avenue, is the cause of dissatisfaction. The attendance is not steady. If the union is carried out it will mean the obliteration of the first church in the city. The First church was formed in 1833 within the stockade of Fort Dearborn, with sixteen soldiers and ten townspeople for a congregation, and the Rev. Jeremiah Porter, an army chaplain, as pastor.

Within its membership are a number of wealthy persons, so that the abandonment of the church would not be for financial reasons, although it is said the running expenses exceed the regular contributions.

"The First church could exist as long as any, if money was the only consideration," said Marvin Hughitt, chairman of the executive board of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, a member of the church. "It has lots of money back of it."

"Quite a number of the members don't like the location of the church," said Byron L. Smith, president of the Northern Trust company. "I am just back from a vacation and don't know whether or not the movement has reached an official stage."

F. Leonard Boyce, chairman of the board of trustees, said:

"This never has been discussed in the slightest by the trustees. I don't believe anything ever will come from it. For a downtown church our attendance is good, and I know of no acute dissatisfaction on the part of any members."

The joining of the churches would not affect members much, as the edifices are only a few blocks apart, the Second church standing at Twentieth street and Michigan avenue. The reason that the plan of union calls for the extinction of the First church is not only because of its unpopular location but because the Second church has large endowments that would be forfeited in case of the consolidation.

STREET CLEANING REPORT TO BE PUBLISHED SEPT. 25.

Special Commission Appointed by Mayor Harrison Will Urge Municipal Reduction Plant.

The special commission, headed by Ald. Carl T. Murray, which Mayor Harrison appointed to make a study of the street cleaning problem, is getting its report ready for presentation at the next meeting of the city council, Sept. 25.

The principal recommendation of the commission will be:

Establishment of additional loading stations, where refuse will be loaded on to cars and carried away.

The commission has spent the summer months gathering facts for its report.

NEAR DEATH AS PISTOL BURSTS.

Militia Officer and Spectators Are Imperiled by Flying Fragments of Revolver.

Firearm experts of the Illinois national guard consider it marvelous that many persons were not injured yesterday when a heavy army revolver being fired by Lieut. S. Peterson exploded on the state target range at Camp Logan.

Many persons were gathered about Lieut. Peterson to watch his performance with the weapon. After he had fired a few shots the revolver burst into many fragments, which were hurled in all directions, and only the butt was left in the officer's hand.

Those near by fled, and Peterson, jarred by the explosion, fell to the ground. He was picked up uninjured a few moments later.

Go to Bridewell for New Shoes.

"Can we get new shoes in the bridewell?" the leader of three young tramps asked yesterday when arraigned before Municipal Judge Dolan. When assured that they could all pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and were fined $1 and costs each. The men, John Miller, 19 years old, of St. Paul; Fred Rose, 25 years old, of La Crosse, and Michael Cochas, 25, of Grand Rapids, were arrested while sleeping on benches in Grant park.

FAILS IN TALKING MARATHON

Socialist T. J. Morgan Talks Five Hours; Has to Stop.

HE DEFENDS HIS ATTACKS.

Party Jury Hears Charges Made Against Leaders.

A five hour oratorical marathon, which took place yesterday afternoon at the headquarters of the Cook County Socialist party, ended when Thomas J. Morgan, the orator, became too tired to continue.

Attorney Morgan was defending himself before a jury of his Socialist peers against charges which, if proven, may cause his dismissal from the local organization.

The Seventh ward party organization filed the charges, accusing Morgan of publishing unwarranted attacks on the Socialist leaders and Socialist papers, and attempting to disrupt the party.

Voice Grows Weak, Stops.

Morgan took the floor shortly after 2 o'clock. He talked practically without interruption till after 7 o'clock. It was then beginning to grow dark. The speaker's voice was dropping. But Morgan announced that he would take up the better part of the evening. However, shortly after the recess, he said he would like to defer the rest of his defense until some other date. He was tired. The meeting was held at 207 West Washington street.

Morgan defended himself and his party record and repeated his former charges against the Socialist leaders and press. Victor Berger, the Milwaukee congressman; Morris Hillquit, one of the two international secretaries of the party; J. O. Bentall, state secretary; J. Mahlon Barnes, and others came in for caustic criticism.

Jury Hears His Defense.

The jury which listened to his defense consisted of the Cook county grievance committee. This committee has not the power to act, but merely recommends to the Cook county delegate committee what action to take.

WESTINGHOUSE DIVIDENDS OF 20 PER CENT DECLARED.

Report Shows Decrease of Income from Investments of Nearly $5,000,000, Owing to Hard Times.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—George Westinghouse, on behalf of the board of directors of the Westinghouse Air Brake company, today issued the annual financial report to the stockholders of that concern, which shows that owing to the depressed condition of the railway supply business there was a decrease in the income from investments of nearly $5,000,000, as compared with last year. The company, however, declares dividends totaling 20 per cent.

The annual meeting of the company will be held on Oct. 3. It is announced that the current earnings continue at about the average rate for the year, and on that basis the board of directors has declared a regular dividend of 2½ per cent, an extra dividend of 1½ per cent, and a special dividend of 1 per cent, all payable on Oct. 10 to stockholders of record on Sept. 23.

The report says that the condition of the Russian Brake company is satisfactory and that a good revival of business in the Russian empire was evidenced by the receipt during August of a 5 per cent dividend.

The manufacturing profits on sales of brake apparatus, compressors, repair parts, and draft gear, aggregating $8,086,193.14, as compared with $12,463,004.91 the year previous, together with a substantially increased income from investments, enabled the company during the last year not only to pay the 20 per cent in dividends but to charge $161,667.12 on account of depreciation, development work, and patents purchased, and to pass $123,183.81 to the credit of the general profit and loss account.

HELD FOR STEALING PAPERS.

Boys Are Arrested While Selling Dailies with Owners' Mark on Them.

Two boys under arrest at the Chicago avenue station are said to have confessed having stolen newspapers from residents on the north side. They are Harry Linden, 58 East Walton place, and Paul Burns, who gave no address.

They were arrested yesterday by Lincoln Park Policeman John Donner at East Chicago avenue and Lincoln Park boulevard. They were selling newspapers.

Edward Klatt, a newsdealer at 21 West Ohio street, who complained to the police that his newspapers had been stolen for the last two months, identified some of them by a mark he placed on the papers.

Clara Marcell, 5 years old, living at 615 Hinsche street, received injuries yesterday morning while playing on the roof of a barn at the rear of 848 West Erie street. The child attempted to slide down a telegraph pole.

CITY PARK BOARDS ACCUSED OF GRAFT

TO MAKE CHARGES SOON.

Public Efficiency Body Waiting to Decide on Form of Recommendations.

Graft and mismanagement will be charged against members of the west and Lincoln park boards in the report of an investigation by the bureau of public efficiency, to be issued soon.

The investigation of the three park boards has just finished after months' work. Some evidence of graft in the west side park system already has become public. More startling details are promised in the bureau's complete report.

Hints Employes Have Talked.

Herbert R. Sands, director of the bureau, refused yesterday to reveal any of the disclosures which will be made in the reports.

"I am not at liberty to discuss the charges," said Mr. Sands. "The bureau talks only through its reports. I am confident none of our investigators made public any of the charges against the west side board.

"It is possible, however, that some of our discharged employés have talked about our investigation. The bureau has investigated the work of the west park, the south park, and the Lincoln park boards for several months.

Report in Two Weeks.

It is probable that the reports will be made public within two weeks. The bureau is now framing the reports. One plan is to include reports and recommendations on every park board in one report. Another plan is to issue three reports—one on each park board—followed by a fourth containing conclusions of the bureau.

One criticism of the bureau will be that there are three park systems independent of the municipal government.

Motorcyclist Taken as Speeder.

CRANE TO ANSWER CRITICS

Chicago Manufacturer to Make New Attacks on Colleges.

TALKS OF GRANDSON'S VIEWS

Says He Has Failed Successfully to Refute His Charges.

R. T. Crane, Chicago manufacturer, is preparing an answer to critics—the latest of whom are R. T. Crane III., his grandson, and President Lowell of Harvard—who have attacked his assertion that American universities are centers of dissipation.

Mr. Crane is at work on the paper that will embody his reply at his summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis., and expects to make it public tomorrow.

Young Crane Defends Colleges.

In an interview given out in Boston on Saturday Crane III., who was graduated from Harvard in 1904, leaped to the rescue of his alma mater. He said that college training had helped him in business life and asserted that there was less dissipation among college students than among young men of like years outside the university gates.

Says Lowell Is Mistaken.

"I read my grandson's interview with interest," said Mr. Crane yesterday, "but I failed to find in it any passage that successfully contradicts anything I have said about our colleges. With like interest I have read other supposed criticisms. In each case I have found them either based on a misconstruction of my words or of an irrelevant nature. President Lowell was mistaken when he said my statements were greatly exaggerated. I pictured conditions as my investigation showed me they existed."

BRIDGE FAILS; ROWBOATS USED.

Thousands Are Compelled to Pay Ferry Toll at Halsted Street or Walk Miles.

Thousands paid 5 cents each to ride across the river or else walked miles out of their way yesterday because the South Halsted street lift bridge was held up in the air while workmen made repairs upon it. River men with leaky hand power craft and several men with motor boats made money by ferrying passengers across the stream. The rowboats required twenty minutes to cross the sixty foot stretch of water. Traffic was tied up from 9 o'clock yesterday morning until late last night.

Alfred Peats Wall Paper

Decoration Picturing Historic French Art

Scenic or picture papers are especially appropriate to colonial rooms where simple woodwork makes effective contrast for them. Wherever suitable they afford a pleasant change from the usual conventional designs.

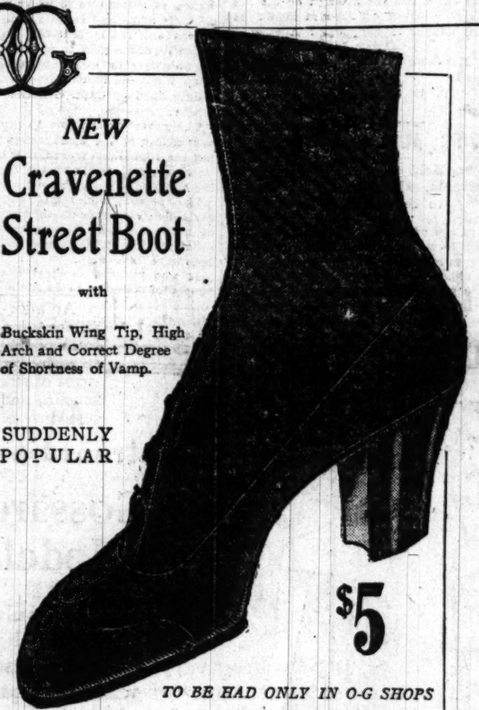

The accompanying sketch represents a glimpse of one of the most famous French productions called "Les Zones" (The Zones). Each group of panels represents, as the name implies, a beautiful landscape with features characteristic of the different zones. There are the luxuriant palms and rich vegetation of the tropics; rivers, lakes and snow-capped mountains of the north, so perfectly drawn and colored that the transition from one to another is so gradual and realistic that a beautiful panorama groups all the wonders of nature together within range of vision at one time.

Hundreds of other ideas for beautifying the home await your inspection. Our salesmen can make suggestions which will aid you materially in solving satisfactorily your decorative problems.

Hotchkiss Committee to Be Independent, Says Bartzen; Doesn't Change Orders.

MEMBERS WISH TO QUIT.

County Attorney Wilson Remains at Head; Others to Insist on "Hands Off."

Although a week has passed since President Peter Bartzen of the county board promised the Hotchkiss committee absolute independence in the manner of conducting its inquiry into conditions of thte various Cook county juvenile homes, County Attorney Francis S. Wilson says he has not been notified of this change. He said yesterday that he is still under the old orders of the county board executive to direct the investigation.

Prof. Willard E. Hotchkiss, chairman of the citizens' committee was surprised yesterday when he was told that County Attorney Wilson had received no intimation from Bartzen to the effect that the committee was to direct its own line of questionings in the future.

Hotchkiss Tells Bartzen's Promise.

Prof. Hotchkiss said he had expected that the county attorney's office would be represented at all the hearings, but not in the capacity of conducting the inquiry. He also said President Bartzen had promised a week ago that the committee and no paid employé of the county was to direct the investigation in the future.

"Are you going to insist on that mode of procedure?" Chairman Hotchkiss was asked.

"Certainly," was the answer. "I believe Mr. Bartzen will do what is fair and for the best interest of the investigation."

Committee Threatens to Resign?

It was reported that the Hotchkiss committee, although in no way blaming County Attorney Wilson or his assistants, had become so displeased with the procedure of the Illinois Industrial school quiz that the members decided to resign unless they were allowed to have their own way in the future.

The Hotchkiss committee will resume its investigation this afternoon, this time in the Juvenile Court building in Ewing street. The inquiry today will be concerned with the probation system and the Juvenile Protection home. Several probation officers will testify.

Retain the Lines of Youth Through Scientific Corseting

Youthful lines in clothes predominate this season; straight hips with the flat back, the low bust without an abrupt line showing, are imperative and in order to wear the quaint modes the corset must be absolutely correct. New models in corsets adapted for large, fully developed figures, eliminate to a wonderful extent the rotund lines that invariably age the figure.

Models made expressly for the purpose of caring for just these figures are a special feature with us. Corseting them in comfort as well as conforming to the demands of fashion.

The bust is low and full, allowing the desired freedom without crowding the flesh above the corset. The back is broad and stayed with bias bones to support the flesh of the shoulders. The skirt length is not extreme yet sufficient to control the figure. Made of French coutil, trimmed with flat lace applique, studded with blue satin ribbon; price, $16.50.

Remember, corsets change in style as well as gowns and the entire success of your clothes depends upon your corset.

These Dainty Combinations

Special $5

Made like the sketch in princess or waistline styles—the materials are of the finest, and all seams are carefully joined with French beading. Trimming of wide val. lace and embroidered insets so fine they closely resemble hand work. The drawer hangs straight without ruffle. Special, $5.00.

Charming Challis House Gowns

Special $17.50

The lovely soft color scheme of these house gowns has even more to do with their charm than the pretty design. They are made of French striped bordered challis, with square collar back and front trimmed with rich cream lace, and girdle and undersleeves of velvet. Special, $17.50.

Kimonos of Japanese Silk

THE PIRATICAL AUTOMOBILE.

It is the unpleasant custom of criminals to utilize in their war against society the inventions and appliances which honest men have worked out for the good of society. They were quick to realize the value of high explosives for opening safes as well as blasting rocks. So they have pressed the automobile into their service. The modern Jesse James, when he robs a country bank, no longer makes his escape on a fleet horse or a hand car, but in a sixty miles an hour automobile. Presumably after aeroplanes have been perfected he will steal one and swoop down on his prey.

In view of the advantage which the illicit use of the auto gives the criminal, a Massachusetts paper suggests that the law add automatically 50 or 100 per cent to the prison term of the man who employs one for criminal purposes. It is a novel idea, but not therefore to be despised. If the prospect of many weary years in prison—if caught—had any influence, burglars and robber criminals would give the preference to the old fashioned method of getting to and away from the scene of a crime.

The piratical automobile has been heard from frequently of late. It has been cruising around not merely near Chicago but in other parts of the country. Something should be done to wean marauders from the motor car. It was invented for decent men, not for them.

THE CASE OF SECRETARY EGAN.

It is said that serious charges against the secretary of the state board of health have been in the hands of the governor for some time. They seem to have reposed there. It is high time they were considered. It is high time the truth were permitted to come forth from the unpleasant cloud of rumor surrounding this important official. It is high time for his acquittal or for his conviction and discharge from the public service, if that be shown to be justified.

Dr. Evans in yesterday's TRIBUNE charged Dr. Egan with repeatedly obstructing attempts to protect Chicago from infected milk. Dr. Evans knows his facts. Other physicians of standing have complained of Dr. Egan.

Let us have this affair brought to an issue and cleared up. Is Dr. Egan playing shrewd politics instead of serving the public need for sanitary protection? Is he a reactionary, an obstructionist, a complacent friend of politicians like Shurtleff?

THE TRIBUNE believes there is enough public opinion to support a thorough investigation. Of course there are selfish interests opposed to measures in the interest of the public health, interests so narrow and selfish as to be willing to endanger lives rather than submit to the precautions that sanitary science demands. Such interests, flanked by ignorance and prejudice, will come to the support of obstruction and obstructionists; but the general public and most of the press will not fail to demand the advancement of public hygiene by zealous and progressive officials.

ONE PART OF CHICAGO.

The civics committee of the Woman's club has been investigating living conditions in the Ninth ward. Its report should be a valuable municipal document, which prefaces the wider investigation on housing which is understood to have been undertaken as a part of the 1911 program of the Association of Commerce. It emphasizes powerfully the need for enlightened civic action upon the dire problem of congestion, that prolific parent of crime, disease, and inefficiency. Chicago in the twentieth century is not a community to accept the slums as an inevitable evil, or to assume pharisaically that poverty is the fault of the poor rather than their misfortune.

On this latter point, Mrs. Frank A. Johnson, who is a member of the committee, gives testimony:

> Several things were made clear. The people there are not much to be blamed for the dirt and squalor. They took an interest in the movement from the start. They told their friends, they cleaned as well as they could, they cooperated. The landlords are to blame, or many of them are. There is one place on Liberty street, quite the most awful place I ever saw, a two story structure holding ten families and a score of children, some of the rooms entered by scarcely a ray of light, holes big enough for two or three rats as large as squirrels to enter abreast—and I think they did, for we had to dodge them—the water supply pipe broken and drenching the whole building—the alley literally lined with dead cats, and filth everywhere. One part was so shocking that we prevailed on the janitor to board it up. I am told that he reported this to the agent and said he had spent $4 for the lumber and that shouting "Mind your own business after this" the agent knocked him down.

The first requisite to reform is publicity. It is a platitude that one-half of the world knows nothing of how the other half lives. To learn is to begin to help. When this committee's report is given wide currency public opinion will move forward, and when measures for betterment are finally decided upon there will be steam to put them through.

Chicago will some day be free of the slums. Speed that day.

THE YAQUIS.

The barbarous treatment of the Yaqui Indians during the Diaz régime makes one of the blackest chapters in its history. These Indians, industrious, enterprising, and brave, had occupied from time immemorial fertile tracts of land in central Sonora. There were continual encroachments upon their lands because they were so desirable. They could get no redress from the state or central government. Each of them was in sympathy with the land grabbers. So eleven years ago they rebelled.

They fought valiantly, but finally were worsted. The Mexican government, so that it might have no more trouble with them, hit on the policy of deportation. All who could be taken alive were shipped off, men, women and children, from their cool native uplands to Yucatan and other Mexican tropical states. There they were farmed out to plantation owners—practically sold into slavery. They were put at unaccustomed labor in an unfriendly climate. Their treatment was cruel and the mortality great.

Now the provisional government of Mexico promises to make some atonement for the crimes of the Diaz government. It says all the surviving Yaquis are to be returned to Sonora. They are to get back in small allotments parcels of the land they once occupied and thought their own. A repentant government will give each family seven and a half acres of land and a span of mules.

It is to be hoped that the news of the benevolent intentions of the government will not reach the Yucatan planters long before its agents get there to gather up the Yaquis. Otherwise they will probably be hidden away or worked to death. The planters will not willingly surrender their slaves.

THE JUDICIAL CONVENTIONS.

The conventions to be held tomorrow to nominate judges will be the last nominating convention in Chicago. They will furnish an opportunity for the men controlling them to leave a good impression in the public mind by nominating candidates that are fit. A shocking majority of the men suggested so far are utterly unfit.

There are, however, enough good men mentioned to make up a fairly strong ticket for each party. For instance, we find among the Republicans such men as W. N. Gemmill, A. W. Brickwood, John H. Hume, Charles M. Foell, McK. Cleland, George T. Kelly, and James H. Handy; and among the Democrats, E. D. Adcock, Sigmund Zeisler, William H. Arthur, Thomas B. Lantry, M. L. McKinley, G. J. Tatge, and Gustave Fischer.

There are other good candidates doubtless, but these men, at least, are examples of the type of probable judicial fitness which self-respecting and responsible party leaders should insist upon.

A LITTLE ARGUMENT FOR THE RECALL.

Little trustee of the sanitary district Paul A. Hazard began his political career as a Democratic precinct captain. During the years that the loaves and the fishes were not being fed to the Democratic political workers, Mr. Hazard became a Republican candidate for trustee of the sanitary district, and he was elected, receiving fewer votes than either of the other Republican candidates.

During his first years on the board Trustee Hazard was not much in evidence, his efforts being confined to tireless endeavor to obtain positions for political incompetents. The only public notice he attracted was once when intoxicated at a board meeting he became so offensive as to call for chastisement from one of the members.

Upon the election of the three spoilsmen, Smyth, Sullivan, and King, he hastened to form an organization for his personal advantage. Together with these men he defeated a civil service law for the sanitary district, and obtained from the legislature an unconstitutional increase in his salary. Together with these men he defeated the construction of intercepting sewers to preserve the health of the north section of the sanitary district. He has abetted President Smyth in his insurance graft, and has been the prime actor in the Foley-Robertson contract scandal, which is holding up work on the Calumet channel.

Whether the contradictory and disproved stories he has told concerning his sending an agent to solicit the insurance from Robertson were told for the purpose of covering his own footsteps, or to pave the way for the removal of an honest chief engineer according to a deliberate plan to profit from contracts as charged by Trustee Healy, the fact remains that he is exposed to the public gaze as an inefficient, untruthful, and corrupt officeholder whom the people would reject if they had the opportunity.

Insignificant as the man and the office he holds, he furnishes an unanswerable argument for the recall.

CARPE diem. This is the last week of summer.

CONDITIONS over which Gov. Deneen has no control prevented his foregathering with the other governors this time.

LET us think of President Smyth as charitably as we can. Perhaps, like Peter Bartzen, he was born that way.

THIS afternoon, in accordance with previous announcements, the population of the Lake Calumet region will endeavor to assemble in one of the committee rooms in the city hall building to talk about a harbor. There are parts of Chicago where the people are not apathetic on the harbor question.

IF Manager Chance still feels confident that the esteemed Cubs will win the championship pennant this year he is the Mark Tapley of baseball.

CHICAGO has the reputation of being worse provided for in the matter of street signs than any other large city in the civilized world. And Chicago does not seem to care a cent.

IN the years to come you will take your little grandson on your knee and tell him of the year 1911, when fruit was so plentiful that it dried on the trees and vines for lack of pickers and because it didn't pay to ship it.

"LIGHTNING," says a modern philosopher, "never hesitates when it has anything to do; it goes straight to the mark." Our observation is that lightning does nothing of the sort. It gets there, but it makes an atrociously crooked track.

UNDOUBTEDLY you think that some day, when you have more time, you will post yourself on this Alaska business and find out what all the squabble is about.

THAT rumbling noise you hear occasionally may be the gambling going on under the lid.

How to Keep Well, By Dr. W. A. Evans.

This department is intended to teach readers how to prolong their lives and enjoy good health. We believe that this is one of the greatest public movements ever undertaken by a newspaper. It is of vital interest to every reader, for the close following of the rules laid down by Dr. Evans, the greatest authority in America on preventive medicine, will mean the adding of years of life to each individual who follows the policies prescribed.

Readers are requested to ask questions, which will be printed with the answers. Dr. Evans will not prescribe.

WHERE SHALL ONE LIVE?

MANY people move on Oct. 1. The October crop of movers is next in size to the May crop.

Yesterday several thousand persons were out flat hunting or house hunting. What did they look for? They considered transportation, accessibility, the neighborhood, the general appearance of the house, the front entrance, the parlor, the bathroom, the kitchen conveniences, and the price. This is about as much as the average house hunter goes into it. No one of these considerations should be lost sight of. They are immensely important.

Important though they are, they should not be the only things thought of. Whether the house is a healthy place to live in is very much more important. Houses are built of brick and stone.

Health is not built in. The man who builds is not thinking of that. He was not thinking of it when he bought his lot. So when the house hunter goes around with health as one of his yard sticks he does not find much that measures up.

The employed members of the family are going to be in the house about twelve hours out of the twenty-four; the school children somewhat more than that; the younger children and the housewife will be there for twenty hours out of the day's total.

A healthy home is highly important. It is important in shielding against definite disease. It is more important in making for efficiency. What we mean is this: It is more important that a man should go to his work or that the child should go to his study bright, clear, and vigorous, well rested and overflowing with life, than it is that they should be protected from particular diseases.

We are going to write about some things in a house which are more important than the front entrance.

WHOOPING COUGH CONTAGIOUS.

Mrs. E. L. J. wishes to be enlightened concerning contagion of whooping cough.

REPLY.

Whooping cough is extremely contagious during certain stages. It is moderately contagious when the cough starts and up to the time when the whooping starts. It is highly contagious during the whooping stage. It is moderately contagious for about one week after whooping stops. Occasionally there is danger of contagion for a few weeks after whooping has stopped, say four weeks. These delayed infections are difficult to provide against. It is not reasonable to confine the sick person until all danger of delayed infection is past. Especially is this true in scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quarantine should be continued so long as contagion can be reasonably expected.

Authorities are pretty well agreed that persons who have been in close contact with a case of whooping cough can transport the contagion. A whooping child spreads secretion rather more actively than a child with any other form of contagion. Nevertheless, remember that the sick child as a spreader is first in importance. Those in close contact form a bad second.

Whooping cough does not persist three months. A child with a cough persisting three months after a whooping cough started has had, say, six weeks of whooping cough and six weeks of some other infection. The child is not capable of spreading whooping cough then. But the family doctor should determine why the cough.

CONCERNING PELLAGRA.

P. J. wants to know some of the symptoms of the beginning of pellagra and other information concerning the disease.

REPLY.

Pellagra is widely spread. There is much of it in Chicago and in the surrounding states, as well as in the south. Physicians in the south have learned how to recognize it in the last few years. Physicians in this part of the country have not learned how to diagnose it until it is so far advanced that the subjects have had to be placed in insane asylums. The reports of cases in Illinois have come from the Dunning institution and from the state asylums, particularly Bartonville.

Something should be done to let people know what symptoms point toward pellagra. Most cases begin with a persisting heartburn. This is followed by diarrhoea. If a man has a persisting heartburn and a diarrhoea which keeps up, he had better see a doctor and get an examination. One of the things which he should ask is: Does this mean pellagra? About the same time the mouth gets red and raw areas are sometimes seen. The gums get sore. The tongue is red and patchy. The patient begins to lose weight. The patient is "blue" and melancholy. He thinks that his friends are not treating him right and that his family is going back on him.

The eruption starts on the hands and face. At first it looks like an ordinary browning from the sun. Later it looks like a deeper sunburn. Sunburning in a person who has not been exposed to the sun enough to burn should always excite suspicion. One of the first diagnoses made in South Carolina was a man who sunburned brown in the summer, and he had not been out enough to account for it. But the doctor was not suspicious. In midwinter he turned up with a bad sunburn. His physician got suspicious, studied him more carefully, and made a diagnosis of pellagra.

A diagnosis in an early case can only be made after a carefuly study of the case. That is the work of the doctor.

The part of the patient is to get suspicious and go to a doctor if there is a heartburn which keeps up, a continued diarrhoea, persisting sore, red gums, persisting red, splotchy tongue, blues, sunburn out of season or not explainable by exposure.

TYPHOID GERMS.

F. E. V. writes: "About fifteen or sixteen days ago a sample of my blood was sent to the city laboratory on a piece of glass. Examination was made of it and a card returned which read: 'Typhoid germs positive.' Up to date there has been no evidence of typhoid in my case. Could I overcome these germs if they were actually in the blood and not have typhoid?"

REPLY.

You probably have read your report incorrectly. The examination is for widal reaction. Your report, I expect, was reaction positive. Examination of blood on a slide for typhoid germs is not feasible. Examination for typhoid bacilli is by drawing the blood directly from a vein into a tube of culture media.

When typhoid bacilli get into the blood they produce typhoid, though it is not always typical.

The capacity to give a widal reaction occasionally lasts for many years—perhaps twenty. We would suggest that you send a second specimen to the city laboratory.

The Original C2K.

Sir: There is nothing new under the sun! To go back of the Right Reverend Thomas Wilson, Bishop of Sodor and Man, writing about the year 1700, the celebrated John Evelyn, when visiting the churches of Amsterdam, wrote in his "diary," under date of Aug. 19, 1641:

"The turrets, or steeples, are adorned after a particular manner and invention, the chimes of bells are so rarely managed, that being CURIOUS TO KNOW whether the motion was from any engine, I went up to that of St. Nicholas, where I found one who played all sorts of compositions from the tablature before him, as if he had fingered an organ."

A Sentimental Journey.

[Miss Ping in the Bloomington, Ind., World.]

It was almost a day's ride from London to Edinburgh. On the way I saw old castles, but the most interesting feature was an old water mill with a large wheel, turned by water. Such as we read of in English stories. The wheel was turning as we passed. When we arrived in Edinburgh, we were taken to the Cockburn hotel, a house builded with towers on the corners, all of stone. Edinburgh is known as "Modern Athens." It is the seat of a famous university, founded in 1582. However, the Glasgow university is more famous now, it is located near the Firth of Clyde.

We visited the Holyroad palace builded 1670. This contains a chapel, Queen Mary's bedrooms, just as they were years ago, above which is Lord Darnley's apartments, the tapestry and bed coverings are decaying and moldering away. We saw the bath house of Queen Mary out in one corner of the court yard. A dagger is shown in the apartments that is supposed to have been the one used to kill Lord Darnley, Mary's husband. This dagger was found in the bath house.

The Friend of the People

WHAT IS SMOKE?

Chicago, Sept. 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—This department has received a considerable number of complaints of stacks through your column which, upon investigation, have been found to be running within the smoke ordinance, as interpreted today.

As there seems to be some misunderstanding on this subject, I wish to call the attention of your readers to the fact that the smoke inspector cannot interfere in a case of smoke less dense than No. 3, shown herewith, and that even No. 3 smoke is permitted for six minutes in any one hour. If the stack makes more than six minutes of No. 3 smoke in an hour it is a violation of the smoke ordinance. This smoke need not necessarily be continuous, but must aggregate more than six minutes of No. 3 smoke or worse in an hour.

If these facts are taken into consideration by your correspondents it will save time and energy and enable us to get more quickly at the real offenders.

OSBORN MONNETT, Smoke Inspector.

CIRCULARS IN MAIL BOXES.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I noticed in Friday's "Friend of the People" an article regarding circulars being stuffed in mail boxes. This undoubtedly is a nuisance, but there is a better remedy than you suggest. Some years ago the city council passed an ordinance making this a misdemeanor, and the offender liable to arrest. G. A. MAXWELL.

CHARITY FOR PROFIT.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A woman coming to my residence in Irving Park selling flavoring extracts claimed she represented the White Cross league and that this concoction was sold, the profits going to fight tuberculosis. The writer desires to say that we have not used the flavoring extract above referred to, nor do we intend to until we hear from you or through your column whether or not this concern is legitimate. VILLA.

These people were under consideration at a meeting of the board of directors of the Tuberculosis institute nearly a year ago. The conclusion arrived at was that too small a percentage of the proceeds went to tuberculosis and too large a percentage went to the proprietors to make it feasible for the institute to have anything to do with it. At that time they were paying something for the care of a patient in the Lake county colony. The board of the Lake county institution has decided not to take any more patients from them. The board thought they were making unwarranted use of the name of the Lake county institution.

A NATURALIZATION PROBLEM.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly let me know whether it is necessary for an alien living in the United States, being the age of 21 years, to take out first papers for naturalization as a citizen, having been in the union seventeen years? SUBSCRIBER.

932 North Fifty-first avenue.

It depends on whether the alien's father was naturalized while his child was in this country. The naturalization of a man naturalizes all his minor children residing in this country. Merely coming to this country as a minor, however, has no effect on citizenship.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—As I am desirous of taking the stenographic civil service examination, where can I obtain the necessary information as to time, nature of same, salary, etc.? ESTELLE VAN BUSKIRK.

Federal civil service bureau, federal building.

State civil service commission, Springfield.

County civil service commission, county building.

DISABILITIES OF CHINESE.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is there a law in the United States prohibiting Chinese from owning real estate? Is a Chinaman allowed to vote? A SUBSCRIBER AND READER.

Each state makes its own laws concerning the holding of real estate. The law of Illinois allows an alien to take title to real estate, but he must dispose of it to a citizen of the United States within six years or the state's attorney may sell it and turn the proceeds into the state treasury. Chinese cannot become naturalized and therefore must remain aliens and subject to the ban of this law. Chinese who are born in this country, however, are citizens and can vote and hold real estate the same as any other citizens.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly tell me how I can become a railroad mail clerk? What is the salary for starting, and what are the requirements? M. W. P.,

1624 Humboldt boulevard.

The salary is $700 the first year with a raise of $200 the second year and $100 each year thereafter. Apply to Peter Newton, secretary of the federal civil service bureau, thirteenth floor, Federal building, for permission to take an examination for the position.

OBSTRUCTIONS ORDERED REMOVED.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—As to the letter signed "Halsted Street Merchant," protesting against the obstruction of sidewalk by groceryman at 6344 Halsted street, the inspector in charge of this district has been instructed to serve notice for the removal of obstructions from this walk, and he will see that in the future the same is kept clear. F. W. SOLON,

Acting Superintendent of Streets.

STREET WILL BE CLEARED.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly advise in your column relative to the following: In front of 1662 North Francisco avenue, on the street, is a pile of black dirt, which has been there for the last two months. When it rains the water is obstructed and cannot flow to the sewer on account of this dirt pile. Would you kindly submit to the proper authorities, if against the city ordinance, and have the same removed? A CITIZEN.

Acting Superintendent of Streets.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE PLUMED KNIGHT AGAIN.

A letter headed "The Plumed Knight," written by Evan L. Reed of Sterling, Ill., was printed in the Voice of the People on Sept. 6. The following day THE TRIBUNE received four letters protesting at what the writers took to be Mr. Reed's defense of Senator Lorimer. One of these letters, from Joel C. Paine, was printed in THE TRIBUNE a few days later. The other three are printed herewith, accompanied by Mr. Reed's answer to Mr. Paine's attack on him. It would seem that the sarcasm in his original letter was a bit too daring.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In my opinion Evan L. Reed might better occupy his time at some sanitarium for the weak minded than in writing letters such as that of Sept. 2. Such a letter shows a complete lack of knowledge of the splendid work done by THE TRIBUNE in exposing the details of the honorable (?) plumed knight's election.

No doubt there are others in the present congress who were elected by the same interests that elected Lorimer, but were there more newspapers of THE TRIBUNE'S caliber the territory over which the grand old flag waves would no longer be governed by the interests that are at present ruling with an iron hand. M. H. P.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Anent "The Plumed Knight" essay by Evan L. Reed, Sterling, Ill., and title by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, my idea of nothing to do is juxtaposing Victor Berger (an honest visionary) with Senator Lorimer (a visionary spoilsman).

Can one winnow wheat from hay and thistles?

The anarchistic element of socialism is nothing new nor is it growing. Radical or political socialism is comparatively new and is limited in scope, and always will be, for it is insufficiently elastic to cover the needs of a growing, commercial republic. So much for the hay; now for the thistles.

Lorimer and Lorimerism are respectively not angel and halo endowed. Lorimer's views on the socialistic doctrine, or any other doctrine, are purely of negative value. In this country there are writers and orators fitted intellectually to sift doctrines and lay before the public neat, polished résumés. But Lorimer is not one of these. Whether he doesn't chew, drink, smoke, or swear, and belongs to forty Y. M. C. A.'s, or eats opium and passes by the Y. M. C. A. portals, has absolutely nothing to do with intellectuality. This gift the merely shrewd politician (Mr. Lorimer) lacks. So, fear not, Mr. Read; THE TRIBUNE and its readers miss nothing in missing his impressions. On the other hand, think of the great writers and orators whose views we do get and by whom we are instructed.

Hectic opinion to the contrary, I maintain that political socialism is an uninfluential tendency, honest, to be sure, but snaillike, Quixotic, and paradoxical, and that Lorimerism and Lorimer are neither honest nor harmless.

The harm to the people is growing less, however, since they have been enlightened by such papers as THE TRIBUNE, which are making present day candidates stand upon their toes for inspection. P. B. K.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is no part of my intention to comment on the public or private life of Mr. William Lorimer or Mr. Victor Berger. There are, however, certain remarks in Mr. Evan L. Reed's letter in today's TRIBUNE, under the headline "The Plumed Knight," that call for an emphatic protest and refutation.

Your somewhat illogical correspondent evidently feels sorely aggrieved because THE TRIBUNE, to the unqualified delight of all lovers of truth, justice, and good government, let in the light on the corrupt practices resorted to in the election of Mr. Lorimer to his seat in the federal senate.

Mr. Reed may be hardly congratulated on his ideals of good citizenship and patriotism. To the ordinary mind the first and highest function of a public organ like THE TRIBUNE surely is to discover the dark places in the body politic and to unmask the wrongdoers who lurk and prosper therein to the prejudice of the commonwealth. It is its chief raison d'etre.

A. H. CHISHOLM.

Sterling, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Will you kindly explain to Mr. Joel C. Paine that the communication headed "The Plumed Knight" was in Artemus Ward's words, "writ sarcastick," and that the only menace I see in Socialism is that it is being used as a bogy to perpetuate a gang of reactionary politicians and grafters in office by playing on the foolish ignorance of voters who have not been taught to distinguish between anarchy and Socialism.

WAR ON WEBSTER BIRTH SITE GROWS

Rival Historical Societies of Chicago and New Hampshire Wrathy.

'BOGUS,' CRY EASTERNERS

"Tommyrot," Answers A. C. Jackson—Each Body to Improve Its Location.

Another exchange of denunciations by the rival Daniel Webster Birthplace Associations of Illinois and New Hampshire has broadened the interest in the dispute as to where Webster was born. Letters from far and near were received yesterday by Arthur C. Jackson of Chicago, president of the Illinois organization, supporting its stand. Both sites are to be improved.

"It's all tommyrot about our site being bogus," said Mr. Jackson yesterday, talking of the resolutions passed by the eastern body last Saturday.

Both societies agree as to the tract of land on which Webster first saw the light of day in Franklin, N. H. But there are several buildings on the tract and each society has decided on a different part of the grounds as the birthplace of the great statesman.

Eastern Society Takes Action.

The New Hampshire Webster society met last Saturday at the residence of Senator Jacob H. Gallinger in Franklin, and reported that the Chicagoan's site was not where Webster was born. Each society has obtained control of the site which it claims as the birthplace.

The eastern association decided to appoint a committee to raise funds for rehabilitation of the buildings on its site.

"On our site," said Mr. Jackson yesterday, "there is a monument concerning which no one has raised a dispute. We will commence repairing the badly neglected buildings there within a few days, regardless of what the New Hampshire society says or does."

Object of Chicago Organization.

The society's objects are the acquisition, restoration, and preservation of the birthplace of Daniel Webster; the creation of a Daniel Webster park; the collection, preservation, and exhibition of printed or other material relating to Webster.

Other officers of the society are: Arthur C. E. Bryan, secretary, and George T. Glover, treasurer. Nearly all its members are Chicagoans.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 17.—Barbara Kruttschnitt will live. A wild 700 mile train race from Aguas Clientos, Mexico, to San Antonio saved her life.

Barbara is the 14 months old daughter of Julius Kruttschnitt Jr., son of Julius Kruttschnitt, director of the operation and maintenance of the Harriman lines. Young Kruttschnitt is identified with the Guggenheim interests.

The baby became ill with pneumonia. Physicians advised that to save her life she be taken to a lower altitude. A special train was chartered and arrived here at 12:45 o'clock this morning, the 700 miles having been made in twenty-six hours of actual travel. Physicians say the chances are all in favor of her recovery.

Women Who Hunt Babies for Show.

BABY FAMINE IN ROGERS PARK

WOMAN'S CLUB STARTS HUNT

Infants "Borrowed" from Neighboring Communities for Entertainment.

Rogers Park is suffering from a baby famine. This fact came out when Mrs. C. H. Thompson, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Rogers Park Woman's club, started on a still hunt for babies to take part in a baby show to be held Friday afternoon, under the auspices of the club.

"We intent to have a baby show upon the second day of our entertainment, 'On the Broad Highway,' in the Rogers Park Masonic temple, the end of the week, but so far we haven't been able to locate any babies," said Mrs. Thompson yesterday afternoon.

Forced to Import Babies.

However, by Friday Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. J. W. Artis, chairman of the baby show committee, hope to find enough infants in the neighboring communities to take part in the contest.

Upon the evening of the day of the baby contest a "ham dinner" will be served under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Pierce. The following day will be given up to a "doll wedding" by children of the club members. In the evening an old fashioned Puritan dinner will be served by Mrs. H. B. Salmon.

800 Women Work at Booths.

Thursday, the first day of the entertainment, will be devoted to the bazaar. The bazaar consists of eleven booths in charge of 800 women.

The largest booth will be devoted to men's furnishings, and will be managed by Mrs. John C. Thorn.

The entertainment is being given to raise the mortgage on the club lot and will also be put into a fund for a new clubhouse, which is to be built soon at Estes and Ashland avenues.

PRINTED WARNINGS ISSUED TO OWNERS OF BUILDINGS.

Ericsson Notifies Agents and Lessees They Also Are Responsible for Violations.

Owners, agents, and lessees of buildings will be held responsible for violations of the building code, declares Building Commissioner Henry Ericsson. He is sending them "public safety" warnings in the shape of a printed circular containing a digest of the building code.

"You are legally, morally, and financially responsible in case of failure to comply."

POETRY TO TEACH YOUNG TREE LORE

No, it is not an ode from Horace; neither is it the Helvetian war from Cæsar's Commentaries.

It is one of the latest American poems, written in Latin by Miss M. Elizabeth Farson at Nearwood in Evanston. Nor is it meant for the highbrow population of Evanston, or any of our other literary inclined suburbs.

Nature Poem for Children.

It is the first two lines of a nature poem, entitled "Trees of Chicago Parks." It was written expressly for children of Chicago, a little contribution to the juvenile literature of Chicago.

It contains six stanzas, and the first two lines are characteristic of them all in simplicity of diction.

The poem is a combination of scientific and common names of ordinary Chicago trees. Practically all of them are to be found in Chicago parks, according to Miss Farson.

Translation Goes with It.

The first verse of the poem reads:

Juglans, Populus tremuloides, [Walnut], [Quaking aspen].
Acer with samaras queer, [Maple].

VANGUARD OF ODDFELLOWS ARRIVES IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—The first detachment of the Chicago delegation to the Oddfellows sovereign grand lodge, which will open here tomorrow, arrived today. In the party was Gen. James Henry Harris, department commander of the Patriarchs Militant, the military branch of the Oddfellows, and twenty-four women, members of the Cook county Rebekahs, headed by Nellie L. Harris, director.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow the Cook county Rebekahs will begin the prize degree work at Tomlinson hall. The Chicagoans will be the first contestants to enter the prize drills and will be followed by lodges from Centralia, Olll.; Petersburg, Ill., and Mason City, Ia.

Accompanying Gen. Harris were two members of his staff, Col. C. E. Wyman and Brig. Gen. Sven Windrow. The Illinois Patriarchs Militant will not enter in any of the contests for prizes, but the Cantons from Danville and Champaign and one from Chicago will be here Wednesday evening to take part in the parade.

Getting Guaranteed Gloves is Like Getting Real Money

You can't possibly go wrong when you purchase Ireland's Gloves. For they are the only gloves to carry a written bond that guarantees their satisfactory wearing; and they also "go themselves one better" and don't begin to show usage even within the time set by their makers.

IRELAND'S GUARANTEED GLOVES

are unsurpassed for appearance, for their harmonious lines, their delicate colors, handsome grain leather, stylish buttons, appropriate stitching—all fashionable to the last degree. But greater than that is their service rendered. They cling to the hands without wrinkle or crease and "go with the hands" when they bend.

Your dealer carries them. If he doesn't he should, for they mean as much to him as they do to you. See that the bond is properly signed and dated.

The "humanity" of the Bauer Piano is often remarked upon by musicians.

It is alive, responsive, resourceful—seems to meet the musician half way and help to carry out his thought. This sensitiveness to human mood and touch marks the difference between the artistic and the commercial piano.

You cannot get art out of a piano unless some one takes the trouble to put art into it. The maker must do his part before the player can do his.

The Bauer is an artist's piano. It is made for musicians. It sells for a less price than other good pianos because it is sold direct by its makers.

Fashions in Which Women Are Most Keenly Interested

Have Been Coming to Our Sections Displaying

Autumn Dress Goods, Silks, Laces and Trimmings

In Very Frequent and Unusually Early Arrivals During the Past Few Weeks,

So that our present displays afford a fund of authentic information of the very latest tendencies—showing novelties that hold many surprises in their newness.

Not for many seasons have Dress Materials themselves figured so prominently in Autumn and Winter modes. Designers have in many instances done the unexpected in producing decided innovations in color treatments. Richness and refinement—refinement in a most notable degree—mark many new ideas both in Silks and in Wool Fabrics.

Our selections have been so critically made from such a profusion of the latest productions that we are certain of their distinctiveness.

NOVELTY LACES AND TRIMMINGS

Heavy in weave and bold in design are the Bands and Laces coming in the season's latest styles.

Dentelle Macrame and the twine or cord-like Laces—a decided innovation from designs of all other seasons—give an ideal trimming for heavier materials.

Shadow Laces are in marked contradistinction to the heavier Laces—as light, filmy and delicate as a web, and in fairylike designs.

Metals also bring many striking new effects in Laces—especially the rich combination of Empire gold, copper, silver and green.

Large Frogs and Fouragiers, heavy fancy Cords and Cordeliers in black silk, gold, silver, antique gold and silver metals—these are all universally favored in setting off the heavier materials.

EXCLUSIVE COLORED DRESS FABRICS

Among the Parisian novelties in Colored Fabrics are Silk Eoliennes with small black figures in more than twenty different shades in soft, beautiful tones.

India colorings and designs, being odd combinations in waist patterns of Silk and Wool Mesh Fabrics, are made up charmingly in combination with lace or velvet.

NEW SILKS AND VELVETS

Peluche is an entirely new combination in pile fabrics for costumes and wraps—black on a foundation of colored satins that give a strikingly effective two-toned combination.

Glace Jupiter is also a new two-toned weave in silks—just a slight suggestion of the secondary shade—one of the most charming new fabrics brought out this season for elaborate gowns.

The old-fashioned Grenadines that have not been popular for 25 years or more are being revived, but with a beautiful soft chiffon finish to the weave.

Colorings that will immediately arrest the eye have been developed in Brocaded Velvets for wraps and gowns.

Broche Silks are to be seen in many interesting novelties in one and two tones, also new tricolorings.

The vogue for metal effects brings many rich Brocades in pompadour or floral designs, many of them typically Oriental. They are the season's most distinctive novelties for formal gowns and wraps.

Givrine Cotele is a French innovation in which many exquisite two tone colorings are given a frosted effect that produces a most unusual effect.

SHEER WEAVES IN FLANNELS

Phryne Tissues, in the Flannel Section, are a French novelty of the lightest wool texture; shown in designs and color combinations of surpassing beauty.

Nayade Bordered Flannels are also among the novelties whose delicate soft colorings will excite unusual admiration.

NEW WEAVES IN BLACK GOODS

The newest weave in Black Goods is Peau de Souris—as light in weight as Chiffon Broadcloth, resembling Panne Broadcloth, but with a longer, glossy nap.

Dressmakers, and women generally, seeking the very latest information, such as we secure from our own exclusive sources, will find these displays intensely interesting.

Miss Frick Takes to Cookery.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Winsome, blue eyed, golden haired, heiress to millions, Helen Clay Frick, who has been known for her philanthropies since she was a tiny freckled faced girl in pinafore and pigtails, has routed the austere French chef from the kitchen of the Frick mansion at Pride's Crossing and taken upon herself the duties of cook.

Helen's friends, and even her father, say that Miss Frick has invaded the Frick kitchen, much to the chagrin of the chef and under cooks, and insists upon preparing with her own hands the choicest of dainties with which to tickle the palate of her millionaire father.

The old saying goes that the way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach. True to form, her father is delighted, for he is said to have boasted to friends that she's the finest cook in the country, and everybody knows how absolute is her sway with her father.

The story also says that cookies are her favorite concoctions, and that if her father wants her for anything he doesn't search in the elegant drawing room of his north shore mansion, but makes a bee line for the kitchen, where he is sure to find her. She is there always, busily plying her art, for art it surely is, if the tales of the wondrous confections she turns out be true.

"The Grain of Dust" Pleases Its First Audience.

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

"THE GRAIN OF DUST."

A play made by Louis Evan Shipman from the novel of David Graham Phillips. Presented in Chicago at the Blackstone theater Sept. 17, 1911.

BY

Frederick Norman	Mr. Hackett
William Tetlow	E. M. Holland
Isaac Burroughs	Fraser Coulter
Clayton Fitzhugh	Vaughan Trevor
James Galloway	Charles Stedman
Edward Lockyer	Frank Burbeck
Timson	Fred A. Sullivan
Clerk	Daniel Jarrett Jr.
Mrs. Clayton Fitzhugh	Miss Olive Oliver
Josephine Burroughs	Miss Pauline Neff
Dorothea Hallowell	Miss Mary Moran

"THE GRAIN OF DUST" emerges from the process of dramatization a plain and somewhat aimless story about a corporation lawyer who fell in love with his amanuensis, broke his appointment to marry the daughter of a mighty client, married the typist instead, permitted himself thereupon to be ruined by the mighty client, lost his wife, regained his fortune, regained his wife, and was happy at the terminal.

It is said to be somewhat aimless because its romantic section, which involved, in the novel, a vast amount of sham psychology, is indefinitely recited—its incidents are baldly stated, without the explanation demanded by their peculiar nature. Thus, the lady of the title, after leaving her husband inexplicably, returns to him inexplicably, so depriving the play of a theme which would seem to be its reason or existence. As is surmised by Mr. E. M. Holland, the genial raisonner of the piece, she left him because she loved him, and, by the same course of explanation, returned to him because she loved him not.

None of which seemed to be of much importance to those who went to the Blackstone last evening, for "The Grain of Dust" was received with the utmost favor, as was its star, Mr. Hackett, of whom it may be said in praise, not entirely unqualified, that he acted more capably than he ever has before. The laborious simulation of ease and suavity, which has been one of this actor's heaviest handicaps, has disappeared to a great extent, coming forth again, however, in his grotesque attempts to denote enthusiasm, among other things. He is particularly at fault, for example, in the third act when he is called upon to be glad of the visit in a moment of adversity of an old business friend and associate. He is best, like all actors, when he acts least—and there are many intervals in the performance of "The Grain of Dust" when his impersonation of the masterful barrister is dignified, fluent, and altogether natural.

This lawyer, as brought out by Mr. Shipman, the dramatist, is rather a platitudinous chap, with a propensity for such phrases as "It's a long lane that has no turning," and "Praise from Sir Hubert is praise indeed," and "Last analysis," and "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." His most interesting manifestation is in the second act, where, refusing the demand of his prospective father-in-law to cease his admiration for his good looking stenographer, he withdraws from his firm and defies the gentleman to fulfill his threat to ruin him. The play might have more "punch" to it were the audience permitted to see this process of ruination, but it happens "off stage" and is only talked about in the next act, as is the mystifying absence of the lady in the case. Among other agitating incidents of the novel omitted from the play is the period of inebriety through which the hero progressed. But heroes in plays are not permitted to enjoy the minor shortcoming of heroes in books, and so Mr. Hackett moves impeccant through "The Grain of Dust," save near the finish, when, with his enemy under his heel, crying for pity, he is hard and merciless.

The smart observations of Mr. Phillips and Mr. Shipman have most frequent utterance by the capable Mr. Holland, who impersonates the quizzical Tetlow. "The Waldorf," he remarks, "is an institution for conferring exclusiveness upon the masses." In a moment of fervor over a high ball of Scotch he speaks of ice as the only thing in the world that is what it is cracked up to be, and in the drawing room he tells the handsome and gracious Miss Olive Oliver, the Ursula of the play, that the best of dinners is only a thorny path to a good cigar. These exhibitions of wit make amends for some of the less enjoyable episodes. It may not be believed, but it is nevertheless the truth, that one of the acts opens with a maid and butler dusting the furniture and explaining to the audience what happened while the curtain was down. Moreover, this butler is discovered a little later proffering, in the tremulous accents of the old and faithful stage servant, his little fortune to his master in the hour of need.

The title rôle is played earnestly and in the old manner by Miss Mary Moran, a pretty girl, graceful, brunette, and most serious. Mr. Frazier Coulter and Mr. Frank Burbeck, both expert in the impersonation of men of affairs, act rôles of that sort with distinction, and so does Mr. Charles Stedman as a tender hearted Chicago millionaire. The hero's wastrel brother-in-law is excellently portrayed by Mr. Vaughan Trevor, and the ex-fiancée is acted with much elegance of diction and attitude by Miss Pauline Neff, who, according to entr'acte conversation, is the erstwhile Mrs. Dr. Munyon.

Ald. Coughlin to Write Play.

Ald. John Coughlin of the First ward is to become a playwright. Edward Sheldon's drama, "The Boss," is responsible. Coughlin has several times seen Holbrook Blinn's portrayal of Shindy Mike, the political boss, and last night he announced his determination to improve the character.

"Why, since I have coached Blinn in the way a boss would talk, his acting has improved 100 per cent," said Ald. Coughlin.

"After I finish with improving 'The Boss,' I am going to write a play reversing Sheldon's idea. I intend to show up some of the so-called reformers, and I have plenty of material at hand right here in Chicago."

Hugging Delusions.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

IF every one was proof against the sly tricks imagination plays no one would have delusions. The feminine portion of the world, while sensible to all other matters, hold strangely high colored, rosy delusions on the subject of love.

The sweetheart is deluded into the belief that her lover is the "smartest fellow that ever walked." She fancies because he is in the lowest position of a large establishment he is there to learn the business from the foundation, not because it is the only position he was found competent to assume. Her boastings of what he intends to do in the future sounds to her deluded ears the height of impassioned reasoning. She sees the path ahead through the telescope he holds to her eyes.

The wife is deluded into the impregnable belief that her husband speaks gospel truth when he solemnly affirms business detains him at his office to the wee sma' hours of the morning. She believes, too, that "Joe" in his office is a tremendously cross boy, always watching the clock, instead of a sweet blonde.

A woman's greatest delusions cluster about her children. Her boy, she imagines, will one day rule the nation, be the greatest power among men. She believes there is not a sweeter heart in the whole wide world half good enough for her Jamie. She is sure every girl is wearing her heart out in longing for him and that love traps are being set in every direction for his unwary feet. The fondest delusion which the mother hugs to her heart is: Whoever takes her son will have to take her to her heart. She believes fondly that a daughter-in-law will idolize her, causing her ever to bear in mind that she has found a daughter in losing a son. Another delusion which she hugs secretly to her heart is that grandchildren are ever devoted to a grandmother—that they think quite as much of making her life happy as she thinks of making theirs. She believes that friends are true, and that friendship, like love, has no ending.

The veil of delusion is drawn gradually from her eyes when the friends drift away. Her delusion, too, melts slowly and surely when her Jamie weds, and every room in their home is so crowded to such an extent by week-end parties there is not even space for a chair in the chimney corner for mother-in-law.

Men who rely upon the accuracy of their opinions are generally more given to hugging delusions to their hearts than women. They fancy they are winning golden opinions from every woman with whom they come in contact. They fancy every blushing maiden is sighing for some one like themselves to love and cherish her. They fancy every mother with a marriageable daughter is casting anxious eyes in their direction. They believe that every friendly fellow who happens to invite them to dine at his home has a single sister-in-law in the background. They believe the girl with the flaxen ringlets is by far too beautiful and attractive ever to hope to win.

Of the delusions of both men and women—there is no end.

On the Verge of Marrying.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 18 and considered good looking. I am deeply in love with a man 32 years of age. He is a widower with two children, and I am at a loss whether to marry him or not. He is a successful lawyer and is wealthy. Now, I do not like the idea of taking care of his two children. Kindly advise me whether to marry him or not. Answer as soon as possible, as I am on the verge of marrying. PATRICIA."

You can't be very deeply in love with him if you are not willing to help him rear his two children.

She Appeals to Him.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am in love with a man of 20. He told me I appealed to him. Does that mean he intends to ask me to marry him?

"ANXIOUS."

Indeed, it doesn't. He simply means nothing at all except, perhaps, that you interest him. Don't I beg of you, think that every man who happens to be pleasant to you wishes to marry you.

Perfectly Proper.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Is it proper for a young man to ask a young lady for permission to call on her, mentioning an evening, if he is well acquainted with her? F. A."

Yes, you might tell her that if she will be at home on such an evening you would like to call.

Better Use Common Prudence.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl 18 years old and for the last year a young man has been calling me up on the telephone, but I never have met him. Now, he desires to meet me, but as I never have been introduced to him I hesitate to do so. We have tried to find some one who knows us both who might introduce us, but have failed. Kindly advise me if it would be all right to have this young man call on me and introduce himself. BRUNETTE."

Do you know anything about him—what he does, who he is, whether he's a married man or not? I would advise you to acquaint yourself with some of these facts concerning him before allowing him to call.

Seems a Hopeless Case.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a man of 53, though my heart is as young as when I was 23. My hair is gray, but my face is young, and I am called by my lady friends handsome and distinguished looking. I am madly in love with a charming lady of 17. She returns my love, but her parents object to our union. What shall I do to overcome her parents' objections? I am working steadily and earning $15 a week. Do you think that enough to begin housekeeping on? I hope you can offer some way out of my dilemma, as I am nearly heart broken.

"C. Q. D."

No, I can offer you no help in overcoming the objections. At your age, and with your income, I think you will find it difficult enough to provide for yourself alone without attempting other responsibilities.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Homey Apple Pie.

IN the year 1847 a writer on gardens said of the apple that it was "suited to 346,500 square miles of the United States," and he would likely have spoken the truth had he said that the apple pie was as indigenous to the country as was the fruit out of which it was made.

At that time the great commercial orchards of the west had not been developed, the statistics concerning whose enormous extent and prolific character we should have to consult government reports to ascertain, but we know without statistics that the apple pie has sadly declined in popularity since the days when Emerson thought it a viand necessary to a complete and satisfying breakfast.

One of the reasons why this confection has lost some—perhaps only a little, perhaps much—of its old time popularity is because it is seldom well cooked. Perhaps the fireless cooker, with the hot stones or radiators, will help solve the cooking problem for the apple pie. The ordinary gas oven is not well adapted to its cooking.

One of the ways the difficult cooking problem is met is to make a pie with no upper crust, somewhat like the German apple cake and the French gateau. If a meringue is added these open pies are pretty and delicious. Another way is to cook or perhaps only to parboil the apple before putting it into the pie. The extra cooking always improves the flavor of the apple, especially when little pieces of butter have been dotted over the apple and sugar.

Any good cooking apple is suitable for pies, but of the more common sorts perhaps the greening and Baldwin make as fine a pie as any. With all the splendid new varieties it is difficult to say which is best. There are fine apples now, just one of which will make a pint of the best apple sauce and is quite ample for a pie.

Gateau de Pommes.—Rub a cup of flour and two tablespoons of lard together and add enough cold water to bind the whole. It must not be wet or the dough will be tough—that is the secret of a flaky dough. Roll it just so it will not break, line a good sized pie plate and lay your pieces of apple—peeled and cored and sliced in eight pieces each—so that they will overlap each other all around, then another row and still others until your pie is covered like a crown. Sprinkle over it a small cup of sugar and a little nutmeg, then beat one egg, add to it two tablespoons of cream, beat together, and spread all over your pie. We never cover our gateau in France, but you can put little bands of the dough in lattice style before the sugar and egg and call it "tarte."—L. C. S.

Open Apple Pie.—Pare and core six sour apples, line pie plate with paste made with one and a half cups of flour, three ounces of lard and a little salt. Arrange apples on plate, mix one-quarter cup of sugar with one-half teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over apples. Bake until soft.—O.

Apple Pie I.—Pare and slice the apples and wash them. Cut into one cup of flour and one-eighth teaspoon of salt one-third cup of lard. When well mixed add enough ice cold water to make a stiff dough—from one-fourth cup of water to one-third is sufficient. It depends upon the flour. Knead very little and roll out to one-eighth inch thick and cover tin. Fill with apples and add one-third to one-half cup of sugar, according to the sourness of the apples. A dust of cinnamon adds to the flavor of the pie. Cover with a top crust and place in a hot oven for ten minutes. Reduce the heat and let cook slowly until apple is tender.—E. C.

Apple Pie II.—Crust: One large cup of flour, two heaping tablespoons lard, one-half teaspoon salt. Add to flour three-fourths teaspoon baking powder, rub fine, and mix with ice cold water. Roll without turning. Pare five nice large apples, slice very thin and fine, put some sugar on bottom crust, fill with apples and over the top put the balance of a cup of sugar, sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg, and put a few specks of butter on top and add about three or four tablespoons of cold water. Before putting in apples perforate bottom crust with a fork, and dampen between edges of two crusts with water and the juice of your pie will all remain inside. Sprinkle sugar over top crust.—M. D.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

Cultivate Your Charms.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1911: By Lillian Russell.]

I BELIEVE that the endowment of beauty which is given to every woman should be nurtured and propagated, built upon and cultivated, civilized and embellished as faithfully as the Puritans cultivated this beautiful land of ours.

The savage Indian tribes which formerly inhabited and owned this part of the globe are perfect examples for us of the uselessness of gifts, talents, or endowments of whatsoever nature if they are uncultivated.

They were like children in that they possessed instinct instead of reason. They had fields to cultivate, wood and stone abounded, and everything necessary to establish and beautify cities was at their command; but they did not realize their gifts, nor did they avail themselves of their privileges.

The wild instinct of killing and not cultivating has been and always will be the limitation of the savage; and as a consequence they lost the land, their heritage, and became the nondescripts of today. Theirs is a case illustrative of the survival of the fittest. Had reason come to their rescue we probably should not be the possessors of this wonderful land, with its magnificent opportunities.

But we are here, and one of our opportunities is to profit by the mistake of the Indian. The principle used in the development of a city is a lesson to us all. The city is drained and cleansed, building begins, embellishment is impelled, and beauty is the result; so we who are progressive should take example from the primitive Indian's neglect and beautify our bodily cities—mind and body—thus keeping ourselves beautiful and cultivated—a barrier against all invaders. Diseases of mind and body are invaders.

As our people were the force that has nearly exterminated the useless Indian, who knew not how to take advantage of his glorious opportunities and infinite gifts—who could not, in the language of Pope—

Learn of the mole to plow, the worm to weave.
Learn of the little nautilus to sail,
Spread the thin oar and catch the driving gale.

Let your civilized thoughts lead you to make the most of your gifts of mind—the motor power that moves us all.

Reason tells us to begin where instinct leaves off, and to assert our personality.

We are all building for the future, and the coming generations will be the more beautiful and wise in proportion to the present appreciation of ourselves and the realization of our gifts. No one dare blame a man or woman for the desire to be pleasing to the eye. Therefore, let the first impression of your personality be complete—a well dressed, well groomed one.

The personal appearance is the expression of the mind, or should be. As we are. If we are careless in the thought of our appearance to others, we reflect that state of mind in our dress and face. So build your city and cultivate your minds that you will have done your share, which share exists in making the world more beautiful.

Remember: Gifts of beauty may be yours, but cultivation is necessary if you would keep your charms.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

A. O.: I am delighted to hear that you are so greatly interested in my little daily beauty sermon. Thick lips frequently come from mouth breathing. Hold the lips firmly and cultivate decision of character. Rub into the lips night and morning the following astringent ointment: Melt one ounce of cold cream in a double boiler, using no more heat than is required to keep the mass in a fluid state. Add one gram of tannin in powder and one gram of chopped alkanet root and let it steep for five hours. Strain through cheese cloth into a jar and stir until cool.

The best way to overcome the nail biting habit is to manicure your nails once a week and give them a few minutes' care every day. This will smooth over the imperfections and remove all the little rough places. These blemishes annoy you when you are nervous and cause you to bite your nails. I am sending you by mail my complete instructions for manicuring.

MRS. A.: Wrinkles come about the eyes when a person frowns or squints to exclude excessive light. Glare and bright light must be avoided. Sometimes correct eyeglasses will stop the frown. Some persons frown and wrinkle up the forehead when thinking intently. We should think with our brains. Wrinkling the forehead cannot clear our thoughts. Use a rotary motion when massaging crow's feet. Massage the forehead with strong pressure and a rotary movement of the fingers. Then pinch out the lines in the forehead, pinching them in the opposite direction to that in which they run. You can pinch out the scowls and frowns if you will keep at it. Finish the massage by passing a piece of ice slowly but firmly over the wrinkles, using a rotary motion, around, up, and out. This has a tightening effect which pulls the muscles back into place and in doing this erases wrinkles. If you will send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope I will send you a recipe for the skin food which I have used for twenty years.

Round About Chicago.

Hope Long Deferred.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

THE vacation ode written by the brilliant young editorial writer, May 1st:

"The gladsome springtime has come, and no only does the young man's fancy lightly turn to thoughts of love, but also to dreams of vacation. 'Vacation,' what magic there is in the word. What myriad thoughts it contains of nodding forests, and splashing waters, and big fish darting in pellucid pools. And what better time for vacation can there be than the glorious month of May? The great northland just touched by the magic wand of spring and released from the icy fetters of the cold, cruel winter smiles a joyous invitation to those who love nature to come now and revel in her treasures. There are those who think a vacation jaunt is best in July and August, but by that time the green of the woods has lost its pristine beauty, the air has not that wonderful tang that it has in May when it is like unto new wine, nor is the earth bursting with the radiance of the dawn as it is in the wonderful month of May. It seems only yesterday when we were sighing:

Waiting for the May;
Waiting for the pleasant rambles
When the fragrant hawthorn brambles,
With the woodbine alternating,
Scents the dewy way.
Ah, my heart is dreary waiting,
Waiting for the May.

"Jones' wife has been ordered to the seashore by the doctors, and so he will take his vacation now. This changes the vacation schedule and throws yours into June. You will begin your vacation June 5th, instead of May 5th as originally arranged. B."

The vacation ode written by the brilliant young editorial writer June 1st:

"Truly the poet has written:

What is so rare as a day in June!
Then if ever come perfect days.

"To the busy worker in the great roaring maelstrom of metropolitan life no greater boon can be given than a vacation in June. While May is full of promise of the gladsome coming of summer, and July and August give evidence of a promise fulfilled, it is in June that nature presents her loveliest aspect. There are some unfortunate individuals who from force of circumstances must go on their vacation trip in May, when the frost is not yet out of the ground and when the chill in the air is more reminiful of winter than summer.

"And others there are who are forced to enjoy (?) their annual respite from toil in July, when the air is hot and enervating, and about all one can do is to lie in the shade and fan away the insects that come with July. August is hotter yet, and the rills that danced with a mad chatter and a laughing gayety in June are dried up to green pools, and a miasmic vapor comes with the evening shadows, bearing hints of rheumatism and fever. But June! glad, gay, frolicsome, perfect June! Then is the time when the woods, and the fields, and the lakes invite. So now then to put away the sordid cares of our city life and go and bathe in June!

[Note from managing editor to brilliant young editorial writer: "Bosley will have to take his vacation in June, as we want him for important work in July. This necessarily changes the schedule on vacation trips and throws your vacation a month later, July 5. —B."]

"July seems to be the most popular month for vacations, and quite rightly so. For it is in July that the city begins to become unbearably hot and the sun's rays strike back from the great pillared piles of brick and mortar like the heat of a white hot furnace. The dust is thick in the air and a thousand odors hang in the circumambient atmosphere to offend the senses. Dear old Mother Nature, always mindful of her children, seeks to make her hills and forests most inviting when the works of man are most repellent.

"So it is in July when the city is most unpleasant that the ways that lead by unbeaten paths through the great murmuring forest are most inviting. Go to the woods ye who will in May or June or August or September, but those who love Nature at her loveliest will go to the woods and mountains in July."

[Note from managing editor: "Lanworth finds that the special investigation of the tariff commission will be held in August and that he must take his vacation in July, so that changes your time to August.—B."]

"August! the glorious month of August! invites the lover of the beautiful in nature more than any other month in the year, and happy is the man who escaped being unceremoniously turned out to vacation in June or July. He may seek the world's great quiet places in the month when fairies have spread everywhere a wichery indescribable. In August the mind as well as the body is given rest. The very air is fairly laden with peaceful slumber and the great trees sing forever a soft and gentle lullaby.

"The nodding flowers seem rocking themselves gently to sleep and the brooks and rivers which foamed and churned and tore along like young freshets in June and July have now quieted and murmur gently a soothing lullaby.

"Dead is the air and still; the leaves of the locust and walnut lazily hang from the boughs, inlaying their intricate outlines rather on space than the sky—on a tideless expansion of slumber."

[Note from managing editor to brilliant young editorial writer: "Gaylor says his guide in Wisconsin writes to him that he will be out with a New York party in September and that Gaylor will have to come now. As you will have to do Gaylor's work while he is away this changes your vacation from August to September.—B."]

"Golden, glorious September! The month that lies between the torrid heat of summer and the icy blasts of winter and which itself is neither hot nor cold nor wet nor dry. The blue haze lies like great ghosts across its mornings and again at night the soft veil gathers mysteriously over the earth. The leaves turn to crimson and gold in colors that no painter, try how he will, can put on his canvas.

"It is the perfect month, the month in which tired humanity fleeing from the bewildering noises of the city and the dull tedium of its coloring can find indeed a rest as golden as the leaves that rustle under foot and race so madly down the woodland path before the eddying breeze. Lucky indeed is the man who has waited through the hot, tedious summer to take his annual resting spell in this the most beautiful, the most glorious of the months."

Telegram from the country correspondent at Beaver's Tail Dam, Wis.:

"Beaver's Tail Dam, Wis., Sept. 5.—The conductor on train 17 on the K. and J. railroad which arrived here from Chicago at 10 o'clock tonight held the train in Beaver's Tail Dam while he sent for the town marshal to arrest a mysterious man on the train. The man was dressed in old clothes and disguised with long black false whiskers and carried a camping outfit. The conductor said the mysterious man had jumped from the train three times when it stopped at way stations and attempted to cut down telegraph poles. Before the marshal had arrived the man had escaped from the train, but not before he had made an unsuccessful attempt to cut all the wires in the telegraph office and burn down the postoffice. The refugee is supposed to be some notorious criminal who is fleeing from the officers of the law."

News of the Religious World.

What Loss of Sunday Means.

"Must Chicago Lose Her Sunday?" was the topic of a sermon preached last night by the Rev. A. Eugene Bartlett of the Church of the Redeemer.

"From St. Moritz comes word," he said "that Bernard Dell, the Princeton athlete, has refused to play a game of tennis with Prince Adalbert on Sunday. The youth replied to the royal invitation, 'I never play games on Sunday. It is against my religious principles.' Would the average Chicago man make the same reply? Is Chicago losing her respect for Sunday?

"Daniel Webster declared that the four pillars of America were the family, the school, the church, and Sunday, and that the republic would not survive the loss of Sunday one century. Now you see more stores open on Sunday, more amusements, more Sunday sports. Talk with the average man and find how seldom he attends church.

"Great is the peril to our city in losing Sunday. The city's big problems are too often decided by men who have neglected Sunday on the basis of policy, expediency, upon the basis of commercial success instead of upon the rock of Christ's teaching and the granite of the ten commandments.

"We behold these men who have forgotten their soul's need of culture making spasmodic efforts to banish gambling, correct the social evil, drive out the saloon, but lacking in energy and persistence that comes only through worship and prayer. They quickly abandon their good intention and drift back to acceptance of things as they are. The loss of Sunday means the decay of faith."

Scores the Astor Marriage.

The Astor marriage received a slap from a Chicago pulpit last night, when the Rev. I. E. Bill, pastor of the North Shore Baptist church, turned his sermon into a discussion of proposed uniform divorce laws.

"A certain recent marriage has given an impetus to the movement toward uniform divorce laws," he said. "The subject is of vital importance.

"In its sanction of remarriage the church dare not swerve from the declared teachings of Jesus. It does not follow that the church must insist upon the incorporation of its ideals in the laws of the body politic, for the church may respect a condition created by the civil law which it would not create itself and upon which it refuses to bestow its blessing."

Congregation Burns Mortgage.

The burning of a mortgage and thereby freeing of a church from all indebtedness was a feature of a jubilee service held yesterday morning in the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church, North Halsted street, near Belden avenue.

The paper representing the payment of the last $1,000 of a debt of several thousand dollars was placed in a receptacle near the pulpit and in view of the congregation, and was set afire by George G. Congdon, chairman of the finance committee.

As the mortgage blazed the congregation rose and sang "Praise God, from Whom All Blessings Flow." The Rev. J. M. Pheips, pastor, preached the jubilee sermon.

Ground Broken for Church.

Ground was broken for a church to cost $25,000 yesterday afternoon by the congregation of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church at Seventy-eighth and Morgan streets.

"Yesterday was chosen for the ceremony," the Rev. J. D. Hickman, the pastor, said, "because it was the first anniversary of the organization of the church society." An organ was placed in the center of the lot and music was given by a choir and by the children of the Sunday school.

Addresses were made by the Rev. William Macafee, superintendent of the Chicago southern district; the Rev. James Rowe, secretary of the city missionary society, and the Rev. J. S. Dancey, pastor of the Auburn Park Methodist Episcopal church. Vera Hickman, 4 years old, the pastor's daughter, used a child's shovel in turning the first shovelful of dirt.

Mrs. Rockefeller Goes to Church.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller attended the morning services at the Euclid Avenue Baptist church today, the first time in two years that Mrs. Rockefeller's health has permitted her attendance. She has not missed the sermons, however, in the two years, for during all the time she has had to remain at home in Forest Hill her husband has gone to church, listened attentively to all that was said and taken notes, and then gone home to tell the sermon to "mother."

There was room only for his wife in their pew, and he took a seat with a courteous smile just across the aisle from her. Several times in the course of the service he glanced over at her solicitously. She met his look with a happy reassuring little smile. It was apparent to all that she was pleased beyond words at being able to accompany her husband to church and listen to the sermon for herself. She wore a new high bonnet of a heliotrope shade—quite the latest thing from Paris.

Her dress was much the same as it has been whenever she appeared in public this season—black silk with white lace trimmings at the throat and cuffs, with the latest thing in black coats to match.

NEW YORK ISSUES FOIL THE BEARS

MAY GET AFTER FAKERS.

Stock Board Expected to Investigate False Rumors and Punish Those Responsible.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Trading on the stock exchange changed last week, with a more vigorous advance than any which had occurred since the severe unsettlement of the market, which began with the heavy selling that starrted at the beginning of August and extended into this month.

Looking back over last week's record, there is something peculiarly gratifying in the vigorous upturn of prices, for the reason that it followed quickly upon the wide circulation of rumors attacking the credit of many houses. With an audacity which has seldom been exceeded bear rumors dealt with names in a way which could only have been intended to add to the unsettlement of the market and to help a bear position.

If the authorities of the stock exchange accept the view which is being freely voiced in conservative banking circles it will not let go by this feature of last week's stock market without making an honest attempt to seek out those responsible for the unjustifiable rumors and, if they are within the authority of the exchange, to administer fitting punishment.

Rapid Market Rebound.

That these rumors failed of their natural effect was no doubt due to the fact that already the market had been depressed so much that a point had at last been reached at which sufficient buying had been encouraged to frustrate such further bear attacks. The market did yield to some extent to this sort of pressure following declines which had been largely due to this continuance of foreign liquidations, but the rebound was rapid and, with the exceptionally strong market of Saturday, carried the prices of many of the principal stocks well above the quotations of a week ago.

This turn in the market was helped by the more general acceptance of the view, which has been steadfastly adhered to in conservative quarters, that the Moroccan situation would not lead to an open breach between France and Germany. More than this, the latest cables from the European capitals indicated that negotiations between Paris and Berlin might be expected to be concluded without further serious tension.

Strike Alarm Needless.

Except for this development, and for the proof which the week supplied of the continuing strong position of the New York money market, there were no conditions of importance in the situation, unless it be that the apparent abandonment by the western railroad labor leaders of any purpose to bring about a strike at this time convinced the public that there had been more or less needless alarm over the present labor situation.

There was more or less buying of stocks last week by people who became convinced that the level to which the market had fallen had discounted all probable intrinsic unfavorable elements in the situation and left in doubt only the possibility of a further decline, due to the continuance of bear operations, assisted possibly by such liquidation as continued bear pressure might bring about.

Those who displayed this confidence in the merit of the standard stocks at the prices prevailing for them last week were speedily rewarded by the sharp upturn with which the week closed.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Liquidation in all departments were marked throughout last week, and, though, on the whole, political influences were more favorable than they were during the previous week, little improvement in tone was noticed before Friday. Fears of an increase in the Bank of England rate, which were at one time prevalent, were fortunately belied, and with the speculative position generally lightened and a brighter outlook regarding the Morocco question this week the stock market is expected to open more auspiciously.

Heavy Tone in Paris.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—Despite the optimism of the German press, the Paris bourse remained all last week under the spell of nervous uncertainty. Business was almost at a standstill, and the general tone was heavy. The fortnightly settlement monopolized attention, money being exceedingly scarce, Contango rates amounting with expenses to as much as 6½ and 7 per cent, and for certain securities even 8 and 9 per cent. Money was not lacking, but was unobtainable, as lenders were not disposed to grant the usual facilities under existing circumstances. The bourse rallied on securities on better advices from New York. The situation is not likely to change until the political atmosphere is cleared. It is believed the bourse may experience a remarkably brilliant rally as soon as the Moroccan question reaches a settlement.

Improvement in Berlin.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—The boerse dedicated its energies last week to pulling itself together after the effects of the previous week's war panics. The recovery was not complete, but was steady, and the market closed yesterday amid vastly improved conditions. All issues had made substantial advances toward normal prices. The improved feeling in regard to Morocco, as well as the favorable German crop reports, have given the market fresh confidence. The bear movement in New York is the most disquieting factor in the German market at present.

COMMODITY PRICES HIGHER.

Bradstreet's Figures Show Increase of 1.8 Per Cent Over First Day of August.

New York, Sept. 17.—[Special.]—On the basis of the index number of Bradstreet's commodity prices, the average level on Sept. 1 was 1.8 per cent higher than on Aug. 1, and 1.4 per cent below Sept. 1, 1910.

The upward movement last month was largely due to crop deterioration and high prices for animal foodstuffs and unfavorable weather conditions. The groups compared as follows:

RISK CONVENTION MEETS THIS WEEK

UNDERWRITERS' PLANS.

Engage Noted Speakers for Chicago Session; Illinois Second in Fire Field.

This week the American Life convention will hold its annual meeting in Pittsburgh. This association is made up of the younger western and southern companies and is one of the most vigorous of the company organizations. The Association of Life Insurance Presidents, with headquarters in New York, was originated largely by the eastern companies, but some of the older western companies belong to it. Both organizations have something of the same functions. The companies belonging to the American Life convention, however, feel that there are certain problems in the west and south that are peculiar and they desire a united body to deal with them.

T. W. Vardell, president of the Southwestern Life of Dallas, Tex., is president of the American Life convention. Hugh Chalmers, the automobile man of Detroit, will read a paper at the meeting, as will Robert Lynn Cox, manager and general counsel of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. The other papers dealing with live issues in the business will be presented by members of the convention.

Underwriters Plan Convention.

Arrangements are rapidly being shaped up for the annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, to be held in the Hotel La Salle, Chicago, Oct. 10 to 12. Notable speakers will be on hand to address the meeting and the Chicago Life Underwriters' association will be in charge of the entertainment features. The Chicago association will have a meeting Sept. 26 at the Sherman house, at which time the definite arrangements will be communicated to the members and an address will be given by Superintendent of Insurance Potter of Illinois.

At the meeting of the Illinois Local Fire Insurance Agents' association at Springfield last week it was announced that Illinois is second in rank in membership among the state associations, Ohio being first. Illinois stood in the fourth place a year ago. John H. Wood of Bloomington was elected president of the organization. Harry T. Morgan is vice president; J. B. Steck of Alton, second vice president; George North Taylor of Streator, third vice president, and S. E. Moisant of Kankakee, secretary and treasurer. At the banquet in the evening of the meeting Manager J. L. Whitlock in his talk stated that there should be one organization of companies and field men in the state. He held that two organizations could never bring about satisfactory conditions.

Bankers Surety Company Sold.

There was little surprise when it was announced that the Bankers Surety company of Cleveland had been sold. The Maryland Casualty has secured the company. The Bankers Surety writes fidelity and surety bonds.

The Maryland Casualty has a department devoted to this line of indemnity. The Bankers Surety has had a struggle from the very beginning and has passed through a number of vicissitudes. Its surplus had become low and it felt that in justice to its stockholders it should have stronger backing. Whether or not the company will continue as an independent identity is not known, as the Maryland Casualty has given out no statement. It is thought that the company will probably be merged with the Maryland Casualty later on. The smaller surety companies have been hit pretty hard within the last year or so.

Insurance Man Changes Companies.

W. A. Blodgett, second assistant manager of the western department of the Springfield Fire and Marine, retired last week to become vice president of the American Central Fire of St. Louis.

STEEL TRADE STANDS STILL

FINISHED BARS IN DEMAND.

Crop Outlook Encourages Implement Makers; Railroad Buying Poor.

Specifications for all lines of finished material in the iron and steel trade continue good in the Chicago district, but the amount of new business is nominal in character, the week just closed having been one of the poorest of the year in that respect.

Steel bars lead in activity among the finished lines, largely owing to the excellent crop outlook in the middle west, with resultant orders from the manufacturers of agricultural lines. Bar iron has receded to its former price of $1.20, Chicago, and low prices on steel bars are still in evidence, notwithstanding the activity in this line. Track bolts have been shaded 50c a ton.

Aside from an order for 1,200 tons of standard rails from the Illinois Steel company by the Canadian Pacific and the fact that the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railway is taking prices on 1,000 gondolas, there is nothing special to note in railroad buying.

Pig Iron Market Stronger.

In the pig iron market an encouraging note is the fact that the foundries are not delaying in taking out the tonnage specified in their contracts and that practically all holdover deliveries from the first half have been cleaned up. Although southern furnaces continue to hold out for $10.20, Birmingham for future delivery, it is possible to obtain iron for immediate shipment on a $10.00 basis.

Furnaces are not particularly active in seeking business beyond the close of the year, although there is considerable inquiry for next year. This is largely tentative, however. Nominally quotations are $10.50 for delivery through the fourth quarter of this year and the first quarter of next year and for first quarter delivery alone $11.00. In some cases $11.25 is asked.

Northern Furnaces Show Weak.

The comparatively weak position of the northern furnaces—all those situated north of the Ohio river—has a dragging influence on the market at the present time, as in the south stocks have been largely reduced and a good many stacks have blown out. Northern furnaces, on the other hand, are not only carrying heavy stocks but are making more iron than they are selling at the present time.

A number of projects of considerable size are pending, but there is a slight lull in the structural steel market of the west at this time. Contracts reported let in this district last week will require about 3,300 tons of steel.

In the Chicago scrap market lower prices are ruling. Market for railroad wrought has settled down to $10.75, f. o. b. Chicago, with shafting quoted at $14.50@15.00, and iron car axles at $17.75 per net ton, a decline of 25c. Holdings of the Santa Fé railroad are now estimated at 40,000 tons, with no immediate indications of being reduced.

AUGUST BALANCE OF TRADE FAVORS THE U. S. $18,000,000.

Exports of $144,241,515 Set New Record for the Month—Imports Also Were Large.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Commerce of the United States with foreign countries was prosperous during the month closed, with a balance of trade for the month of more than $18,000,000 in favor of American business men.

With exports of $144,241,515, August this year made a new record for the month, surpassing August exports in all previous years and August of a year ago by almost $10,000,000, according to statistics of the department of commerce and labor, issued today.

The imports also were large, amounting to $125,827,112. This amount placed August of this year in second place, it being surpassed only by August of 1910. Considerably more than one-half of the imports entered free of duty.

BY SAM WELLER.

Those aspiring Cubs grew fiery in their attack yesterday afternoon and raked the lowly Brooklyn Infants through the dust in both games of a double header, thereby gaining one full game on the proud New York Giants, who were idle in Pittsburgh. Not a single tally was permitted the visitors in the entire afternoon of pastiming, the count of the first game being 4 to 0 and the second 5 to 0.

The pleasing part of the double victory was that it was gained largely through the excellent pitching of two recruits, Charley Smith turning the trick neatly in the first game and Larry Cheney in the second. Before Mr. Cheney could complete the job, however, Zack Wheat tried to end his career with a line drive at the pitcher's eyeball Cheney stuck up a hand and saved his eye, but had the little finger of his pitching hand broken, besides having the skin above the eye torn. He gamely pawed the ball into his hands and threw the batter out at first. Then they helped him to the club house and summoned medical aid. It is doubtful if the young star will pitch again for two weeks, and possibly not again this season.

Strikes Out Ten Infants.

The accident to Cheney was the most exciting thing that happened during the afternoon. He had been doing such brilliant slabbing that after a couple of innings he was applauded almost every time he threw the ball. Ten of the Infants had fallen before him by the strikout way, and some of the best hitters of the club were included among them. He was using a spit ball along with a fine hook curve and sneaking in a fast one every little while. He had no trouble whatever in locating the plate, and when seven innings were over the fans felt assured that he's a coming star. Consequently there was deep sympathy for the young hurler when he was hurt. Lurid Lew Richie took his place and finished the game nicely, without even having a chance to warm up.

While the flinging of young Cheney was brilliant, that of Charley Smith was so steady and accurate that he, too, won the admiration of the crowd. He held the enemy to five scattered base hits, walked nary a one, and in only one inning was in danger. A double play helped him out of that one tight place.

Dahlen's seventh placers played ball more in keeping with their standing yesterday, while the Cubs displayed a bit of championship form. The offense of the west siders was splendid. They were always alert, and their base running helped them in making the double victory sure. Even Tom Needham stole a base.

Avenge Long Island Defeat.

Brooklyn used Knetzer on the mound, one of the flingers who trimmed the champions on their last visit to Long Island. The Cubs got even with him for his insolence of that other day. For the second contest Schardt, a former Milwaukee star, was sent to the slab, but he was benched during the second inning because of wildness, and a new one, named Dent, took the job. The Cubs then made the victory a decisive one.

Artie Hofman was the greatest power of all in winning the two games. He made up for some seven or eight off days he had earlier in the season. Artie made five base hits, stole four bases, and scored four runs in the two games. Besides that, he drove home two runs, and so was directly responsible for six of the nine tallies made. Nothing seemed too great for Artie to attempt, and his prowess soon had the Infants disheartened.

It was estimated that 15,000 fans were out for the pastime, and doubtlessly there would have been many more had the weather man not threatened to put a stop to it early in the afternoon. It started to sprinkle fifteen minutes before the first game began, and a light drizzle fell through more than half of that contest. After that it cleared up nicely and the sun shone for the second game.

It was Artie Hofman that opened the attack on the hoodoo team in the first game. He was first batter in the second inning and led off with a slashing single to right field. He didn't wait to be helped to second base, but stole the bag on the second ball pitched to Archer. The latter then rolled one to Tooley and was safe when he booted the ball.

Visitors Play Up to Form.

The Infants were playing according to form, Charley Smith fanned, but Sheckard slapped a single to left field and Hofman came home, while Archer went to second. With the call three and two on Schulte, Archer and Sheckard dashed away with the pitcher's arm, expecting Mr. Schulte to clout one over the fence, but Mr. Schulte fanned, and Archer was doubled at third, ending the first attack.

It was the fifth inning before more runs were obtained, and that was the only successful attack that Artie Hofman didn't have a hand in. Schulte started that one with a single to center when one man was out. The hit and run play was called, but Tinker just failed to scrape a single past the shortstop, Joe being thrown out, while Schulte reached second. Heine Zim followed with a Texas leaguer over the shortstop for a single, Schulte scooting to third, and when Doyle banged a single to center Schulte scored and Heine Zim legged it to third. Doyle stole second, but Shean died on a grounder, and that round ended.

In the next inning Hofman opened another attack with an infield single and again stole second. He went to third when Archer grounded out, and came home on Charley Smith's sacrifice fly to right field. Sheckard walked and was nipped trying to steal.

In the eighth Hofman drove home another run, making the victory sure. Doyle started with a base on balls, and Shean sacrificed. Hofman promptly belted a safe one to center field, scoring Doyle, Artie scooting to second when Davidson heaved the ball home. Archer was safe at first on Hummel's fumble, but a double play closed the round when Charley Smith lined out to Tooley, Archer being doubled off first.

Story of Second Shutout.

The second game was just as easily won and it was Artie Hofman who drew first blood again. In the second inning Shean had opened with a base on balls and Artie followed with a nasty clout just inside third base. Smith speared the ball far back of the bag and just had time to shoot it to second ahead of Shean. He never could have nailed Artie at first. This seemed to excite Arthur, and he promptly stole second to make up for the loss. Archer brought him home with a single to left field. Archer slightly twisted his knee in running to first base, and his place was taken by Needham. A passed ball let Tom slip to second base, then both Cheney and Sheckard drew passes, filling the bases, but Schulte's best in this alluring time was a pop up back of the shortstop, and Tooley took the ball after a lively chase back on the green, then doubled Cheney off second.

In the fifth the Cubs were helped by some seventh place throwing by the Infants and got a couple of runs. One was out when Heine Zim made first base on a corking drive to center field. Heine, being fleet of foot, stole second nicely and when Bergen's bad shot got away from Hummel Heine bounded to his feet and dashed on to third. Doyle hit a slow one to Tooley, who was playing in close laying for Heine, but his shot to the plate was both wide and late, and the Bronx boy scored, while Doyle was safe at first. Shean forced Doyle at second, then Hofman walked. Needham came through with a timely clout to left field for one base, and Doyle just beat Wheat's throw to the plate. Cheney grounded out, retiring the side.

Last Attack Nets Two Runs.

The last attack of the day came in the seventh and gave the Cubs two more runs, thanks to some more physical prowess by Mr. Hofman. One was out when Shean produced a single to left. He stole second. Then Hofman pulled a liner safely to left, scoring Davy, and when Wheat heaved home Artie tore to second. He wanted to score another run, so he stole third base, being in a position then to count on a long fly. Needham didn't produce the fly, but Hofman scored anyway. Tom bounded the ball to Smith and before he could shoot it home Artie had slid in and kicked the rubber with one toe, while Tom was safe at first. Cheney died on a pop fly and with Sheckard at bat Tom stole second base, winning the plaudits of the crowd. It didn't matter if luck did help him get it, for the catcher had failed to hold the ball and consequently didn't throw. Sheckard lifted a fly to the outfield, ending the inning. In the eighth the Cubs didn't get a man on the bases.

SAM WELLERISMS.

In the games between Chicago and Brooklyn this season Chicago has won nine and lost twelve.

The last game of the year against Brooklyn will be played at the west side this afternoon and our famed pitcher, M. Brown, is slated to work.

One fan wearing a bright straw hat like those from an August sale attempted to leave the grounds toward the close of the second game. He was pummeled with newspapers and other missiles as he walked in front of the grandstand seats, but escaped with no damage to the lid.

Winning that double header restored a vast amount of hope to the west side fans. The Cubs are now four full games from the Giants and if they can keep that close they could climb to the top by licking McGraw's athletes four straight times when they come here next week.

A series of six games with the Phillies will follow the departure of Bill Dahlen and his seventh placers. One game is booked for tomorrow, two for Wednesday, two for Thursday, and one for Friday. Should rain prevent the Phillies from playing in Cincinnati today they will be compelled to stay and play off the postponed game there tomorrow, then come here for three double headers beginning Wednesday.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 17.—Boston won the first and tied the second game of a double header with St. Louis this afternoon. The visitors scored two runs in the first and two more in the fifth inning, winning the first game, 4 to 3. Houser made his debut on first base for the visitors. The second game was called at the end of the seventh inning because of darkness, without runs. Tyler gave only two scattered hits. Scores:

SPEEDY BOY PITCHER BREAKS THREE OF PROUD FATHER'S RIBS

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Aaron Robinson, 14 years old, is some baseball pitcher. He has a strikebut record. His father, Abraham Robinson, is proud of Aaron and says the boy has more curves than a serpent, and as to speed that boy is a regular cannonball artist.

Abraham Robinson is proud of this season, too, and he figured that a fitting climax to his son's record would be a victory over a team of the neighborhood.

Accordingly Robinson Sr. organized his team and Robinson Jr. was in the lineup. They were practicing today, with father at the bat. The latter watched Aaron wind up for another strike. The ball whizzed toward father, and Aaron gave a yell. "Biff!" went the horsehide somewhere on father's frame. Robinson Sr. groaned and sank in his tracks.

"O, pop, did I hurt you?" wailed the frightened Aaron.

"Son," groaned the father as they hauled him away, "I'm proud of that speed, but please try to improve that aim."

At the hospital physicians told the parent that he had three broken ribs.

President Lynch Decides in Favor of Chicago Club in Decision on the Game of Sept. 8.

New York, Sept. 17.—The protest registered by the Cincinnati club in the case of the game with Chicago Sept. 8 is disallowed in a decision promulgated today by President Lynch of the National league. Cincinnati protested on the ground that Umpire O'Day, during the necessary suspension of play following the removal of Evers from the game, allowed the Chicago club to put Esmond out on a play at the home plate.

McRoy, who, with Manager Jimmy McAleer of Washington, bought a half interest in the Boston American league baseball club, returned to Chicago yesterday after closing up the deal in the east. McRoy confirmed the statement of Jake Stahl, the present Chicago banker, that no understanding existed at present whereby Stahl would assume the managerial reins of the Red Sox next season.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 17.—[Special.]—Connie Mack believes the New York Giants will win the National league championship and already has started drawing maps and studying topography in preparation for a campaign against the tribe of McGraw in October.

Mack will not pick New York to beat out the Cubs and Pirates or make any predictions regarding the outcome of their three cornered battle for the bunting, any more than the foxy Athletic leader will admit that his world's champions have better than a fairly good chance to win the American league pennant again. But when you attempt to argue with Mack that either Cubs or Pirates ought to win the flag in spite of New York's comfortable lead, the manager or the Athletics will uncover a lot of good reasons why the Giants ought to sail under the wire first and why the lead is too long for the Cubs and Pirates.

Mack a Foxy Person.

These arguments show an intimate knowledge with the Giant outfit which Mack cannot have gained by personal observation because he has not been away from the Athletics all season, nor can he have gained it from a perusal of the box scores. So correct is his information regarding the Giants that there is only one way to account for it, and that is the belief that the foxy Athletic manager picked the Giants as probable winners some time ago and has had men watching them for weeks past to get pointers on their strong and weak points.

It will be remembered that Manager Mack openly sent some of his brainy and experienced players to watch games in which the Cubs played last fall long in advance of the world's series, and it developed later that the information extracted in that way was of great value to the Athletics. It looks now as if the keeper of the white elephants had already started a similar campaign.

Fans Want Revenge.

The great majority of Philadelphia fans want New York to win the National league pennant. The Athletics have a defeat at the hands of McGraw's men, dating from 1905, which they want to try to wipe out, and they see a chance this fall.

The White Sox today wasted as perfect a day as ever was coined in the weather bureau. It was grand old baseball weather after the storm and the chances are that it will hold long enough to let the Sox and Athletics get in a double header tomorrow. Walsh and Scott will do the pitching in all probability unless they have lost the location of the plate during their long rest. The Athletics have been idle the same length of time, so there is no advantage either way.

Most of the Sox remained in town over Sunday and spent their time seeing the points of interest hereabouts, for it is not often that they can do so in as cool weather as obtained today. Doc White went to Washington to remain there until the Sox reach the capital city, as he will not be needed tomorrow. Pat Dougherty went to his home in Bolivar, N. Y., and Matty McIntyre ran over to New York to see how things look on Staten island, where his ancestral mansion is located. Both outfielders will return in the morning.

Blackburne Entertains Players.

Collins and Block accepted an invitation to spend Sunday at the home of Russell Blackburn in Palmyra, N. J., and this morning the crippled shortstop drove over in an auto to take Secretary Commyiou for an outing. Manager Duffy and his wife and Cap Lord and his wife put in the day sightseeing. The rest of the veterans stuck around town and watched the progress of the Cub-Brooklyn games. The youngsters formed a party of their own to hunt up the historic spots, some of the recruits fearing they may not have another chance to see them for nothing.

The idleness of the Sox has enabled Boston to tie them for fifth place and they have to play a lot of baseball the rest of this trip to retain the position. Comiskey's men have eleven games to play on this invasion of the east, one in Cleveland on the way back, and five after getting home, making a total of seventeen games yet to be disposed of. They still expect to land a first division berth out of those seventeen games unless the weather prevents.

SINGLE MEN BEAT BENEDICKS.

St. Louis Avenue Teams Play Deciding Game of Series and Married Persons Lose, 9 to 8—Riot Averted.

In the deciding game between the married and single men of the St. Louis Avenue Business Men's association, the single men won in a closely contested game, 9 to 8, on Sears-Roebuck field. Before yesterday's contest, each team had won five games. The game nearly broke up in a riot in the seventh inning when Joe Biagi of the single men's team hit the ball over the right field fence, and Umpire Howard called it a foul. After about half an hour of wrangling the game was continued. As a result of yesterday's contest, Ben Bianchie, manager of the single men's team, will give his nine a banquet. The players on the married men's team will act as waiters, and will not be allowed to eat, smoke, or drink. Score:

MARQUIS 'COVERS' SOCCER CONTEST

League Match Between Local Teams Proves Novelty to Queensberry.

M'DUFFS GAIN VICTORY.

Over Seas Show Slight Lack of Cohesion and Are Defeated, 3 Goals to 1.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY

It was a novelty to visit an ordinary club soccer match yesterday, but particularly enjoyable, as I saw what was practically a Scottish combination, the McDuffs, beating the Over Seas—mostly Englishmen—by 3 goals to 1 after a fast game.

I understand that it was the first match of the season for the Over Seas, which in a way may account for a slight lack of cohesion among the forwards, who were outmaneuvered throughout, especially in the second half. There were, however, flashes of individualism by the losers which shows that they possess the material for a good side when a few changes are made and the boys bring themselves together more.

The surroundings of the ground on the southwest side, which I believe is the home of the McDuffs, is certainly not picturesque, while occasionally the breeze wafts a melange of perfumes primarily of the stockyards and the after effects suggest glue works, soap works, and other things which must be a joke on the clan of McDuff.

Latham a Fine Sprinter.

Latham kicked the first and only goal for the Over Seas. He is a fine sprinter and should be able to do his "hundred" inside eleven seconds. He was prominent throughout. Later a nice bit of passing by Healy, the Over Seas center forward, might have led to something, but the lack of combination spoilt what Healy had initiated.

It was Brown, the inside right, who scored the first goal for the McDuffs. I noticed that the sturdy Black did a lot of good work soon after in saving what occasionally looked like danger from the losers, and Quaite, for the same side, put in a lot of fine work.

The second goal for the winners was soon after "lemon time," a mêlée led to McDiarmid scoring at short range with a shot which gave Newman, the Bohemian goalkeeper, no chance. By the way, they play good soccer in the country of Newman's origin.

Soon after this Paterson sent in a hot shot for the McDuffs, but it hit the bar, which was hard luck, and again after a good bit of work by Quaite another shot with a lot of powder behind it hit the post. An unusual incident was a kick from a corner and the ball, swirling, went into the net, but it was no goal as it touched no one. The last goal was from the foot of Mathieson. Newman put out his hand, but could not grab it, and it tipped off his fingers into the net.

Soccer Gaining Hold.

From what I gather the Over Seas are doing good work in their practice play in Grant park, of which they were granted the use on condition that they would encourage boys to take up the game. A nice class of young fellows are embracing it, which all goes to show that the soccer game is becoming more firmly established in Chicago every season. I am beginning to take a great interest in the doings of the clubs, and certainly hope it will not be the last invitation extended to me.

I am indebted to Messrs. Hubbard and Lonergan for their kindly interest and all the information given me.

There must be a winning side, and the Over Seas should not be discouraged at losing their first game. It was interesting to meet so many Scotsmen on the winning side. What's like us!

Quits Ball Club to Attend School.

ANTHONY CARLO

Anthony Carlo, the 18 year old youngster who went to the Newark Eastern league team on the recommendation of Mordecai Brown of the Cubs, has returned to his studies at Wendell Phillips High school. He pitched three complete games, one of which was lost, 2 to 1, to Buffalo by an error of an outfielder. In the other games he allowed five hits in one and four in the other, both against Montreal. Carlo also went in to finish five games, winning four of them. In all he pitched thirty-eight innings, allowed sixteen hits, struck out twenty-two men, and passed only three.

Carlo will finish his high school work at Wendell Phillips this semester and will report to the Newark team early next spring. When the young player, who is only 5 feet 8 inches in height, introduced himself to Joe McGinnity, now manager and part owner of the Newark club, the former "iron man" said:

"Are you the fellow Brown recommended to me?"

"Yes, that's me," replied Carlo.

"Well, I thought there was more of you, but we shall give you a trial and see what stuff you are made of," said McGinnity.

At several of the ball parks Carlo was refused admission when he announced himself as a member of the ball club.

SOCCER TEAMS OPEN SERIES

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Local soccer players opened their championship series under fine weather conditions yesterday, although the atmosphere was a trifle too warm for most of the men. Four games were played in the Association Football league of Chicago, the best contested being that between the Hibernians and Campbell Rovers, which ended in a tie at four goals each. The champion Hyde Park Blues downed the Albions, 5 to 0, and the Pullman team won from the West Side Rangers by a similar score. The Over Seas, who made their league premier, were beaten by the McDuffs, 3 to 1.

The Campbell Rovers and Hibernians attracted a fair sized crowd to Lawndale park, where the ground was in good shape. Each side scored twice in the first half and in the second the score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Scotchmen, with only thirty seconds to play. Jim Ward then scored from a corner kick and tied the count. Cowan was the best of the Rovers and Nicholl did fine work for the Hibernians in goal. Lineup:

The Hyde Park Blues with a mixed lineup outplayed the Hyde Park Albions at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue. The majority of the Albions were out for the first time this season, while six of the Blues had practiced for the Corinthian game. The Albions held the champions down to one goal in the first half, this being made by Dixon after twenty minutes of play. For fifteen minutes in the second half the Albions kept the Blues at bay, but in the final thirty minutes the champions pressed hard and added four goals. Brown got the first, following a corner kick and McKay got the second with a fast shot. Dixon secured the third on a pass from Evans and the fourth on a pass from Brown. Lineup:

SCHOOL ELEVENS SHOW ACTIVITY

ROSY REPORTS THE RULE.

Oak Park Looms Up as Strong Contender, While Other Teams Promise Well.

BY PREP.

With one week of practice at a majority of the county high schools, the coaches are rounding the candidates into shape for the season, which will begin one week from next Saturday. Most of the teams have issued favorable reports, and the outlook is much brighter than it was a year ago.

Oak Park again looms up as a championship contender, but Hyde Park and Lane are expected to give the suburbanites a harder fight than last season, when Zuppke's team passed through the season with a single defeat. Oak Park was the first school this year to play a real game, the present high schoolers defeating the alumni 9 to 0 on Saturday. The showing was pleasing to the coaches, and according to Zuppke the team will be stronger than last year. If such proves the case, Oak Park will be ranked among the best teams ever developed at a local high school.

Lane High school has the largest squad, seventy-five boys having answered Coach Webster's call. Seven veterans, Capt. McDonald, right half back; Appelt, full back; Pedgrift, left half back; Zitt, Krause, and Lindahl, linemen, have reported. Around this nucleus a championship contender is expected to be developed. Fred Pollard, the colored boy who was selected on "The Tribune" all high school team, probably will find the going extremely hard, owing to scholastic deficiencies.

New Material Promising.

Among the new material are "Tubby" Huber and Hans Norgren, the latter a brother of the University of Chicago star. Both are expected to fill vacancies in the line. The squad is divided into four teams, known as the first, second, third, and freshmen elevens. This system is one of the best used by high schools, as it gives the first team plenty of real scrimmage work before important games.

Coach Reilly at Wendell Phillips is confronted with the problem of making an eleven from almost green material. Reilly has developed strong teams in the past and with a willing squad it is expected that as good an eleven as last year will be turned out. The only veteran of the bunch is Capt. Alberts, while three remaining members of the squad, Keenan, Pettybridge, guards, and Mooney, quarter back, are substitutes of last season. Nearly forty candidates have reported, some of whom are heavy for high school players. Out of this number Reilly expects to secure an eleven of about 165 or 170 pounds average.

Lake View, which passed through a disastrous season in 1910, expects to do better this season. The team is without a coach at present, but Capt. Hauser is directing the work until the assistance of alumni can be secured. Winn and Frank are the other two veterans, while the remainder of the team must be formed from raw material.

Bowen Remains in Minor Section.

Bowen, which won the championship of the minor league last year, will continue in that section. It was thought the team would graduate into the major division, but when it was found that the squad would average no more than 140 pounds Capt. Kendall decided to defend the laurels won last year. Bowen will open its season with Michigan City, the first game being scheduled at Bessemer park on Sept. 30.

Hyde Park expects to present as formidable front as last year, although the team lost heavily by graduation. The team will be lighter, but what is lost in weight is expected to be made up in speed.

The faculty board of athletic control will meet this afternoon to arrange for the season. Dr. Monilaw of University High will be in charge of football and his committee has been given greater responsibilities than last season. The schedule will be drafted, officials selected, and general plans will be mapped out.

HARVARD PRACTICE TO BEGIN WITH PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT.

Head Coach Haughton, who begins his fourth year as coach of the Harvard eleven therefore has to build up an almost new line from untried material, as there are few substitutes for line positions returning to college who are of value. The positions in the line that will have to be filled are both tackles, center, left guard, and left end. Until last June it was thought that left guard and left end would be taken care of by Minot and Lewis, respectively, both veterans, but both flunked in their examinations, and will not return to college. There is one saving feature, however. There are enough backs to permit Coach Haughton to devote the greater part of his energies to the line.

The only promising man for center is F. D. Huntington, '12, substitute last year. He is light but fast and aggressive and should fill the vacancy caused by the graduation of Perkins. R. T. P. Storer, the freshman center, will be a good substitute. Capt. Fisher will be at right guard. P. H. Keays, '13, a sub last year, seems to be first man for left guard. He is awkward, however, and will need much training. Bliss and McGuire, freshmen guards, cannot be looked up at present as varsity men.

Guard undoubtedly will be the hardest problem to be solved. The substitute ranks or the second team do not supply any one of value for the vacant tackle position. The freshmen team, however, gives up two fairly good men who may be worked into these places. They are Willetts and Gardiner. In addition H. A. Rogers, who played end two years ago, but was out of college last year, will be back, while T. H. Frothingham, a sub fullback last year, may be made over into a tackle. From these four men and Howard, the hammer thrower, a sub tackle on the freshmen team last year, a fair amount of strength may be drawn for the tackles.

Sam Felton, who alternated at end and half last year, probably will be definitely placed at left end unless some other man is unearthed. Bulkeley and Dana of the freshmen are only average material for end. At quarter Potter, Wigglesworth, and Gardner, all of whom won their "H" last year, will return.

The strongest man in the back field will be P. L. Wendell, '13, the man who tore such holes in the Yale line last year; T. J. Campbell, a sub half; T. Frothingham, '12, half back, and G. E. Morrison, '12, full back, all veterans, will again be on the gridiron. In addition to these men, who have won their letter, there will be E. A. Graustein and four excellent backs from the freshmen team, K. Reynolds, A. F. Sortwell, G. Bettle, and W. H. Chatfield.

MAROONS LOSE CRACK GUARD.

Horace Whiteside Accepts Teaching Position and Will Not Play with Chicago Football Team.

Horace Whiteside, the 192 pound right guard of the 1910 Maroon football team, will not be among the candidates when the University of Chicago players start the practice season Wednesday afternoon at Marshall field. The big lineman has accepted a teaching position in the public schools of Hamburg, Ark., according to a letter received yesterday by Coach Stagg. Whiteside developed rapidly last year and was one of the most dependable of the forward in the last games. Coach Stagg stated that he would begin official practice on Wednesday behind closed gates. The candidates will get a period of secret drill from 2 o'clock to 4:30, when the students will be allowed to gaze at the practice formations.

TEN VICTIMS OF MOTOR CRASH.

Franklin, N. Y., Man, One of Injured by Lee Oldfield's Car, Dies as Result of Accident.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Harry Bradley of Franklin, N. Y., one of those injured by Lee Oldfield's car when it crashed through the fence yesterday at the state fair, died today, bringing the list of dead to ten. Half a dozen of the score or more who sustained injuries as a result of the accident are still on the dangerous list.

Lee Oldfield, driver of the automobile, is in a serious condition with a fractured rib and internal injuries. He is expected to recover.

A remarkable feature of the tragedy is that while scores of women were in the crowd into which the automobile plunged, and many of them were knocked down and trampled upon, only one, Miss Anna Youker, was injured.

CLEAN SWEEP FOR DE ROSIER.

Champion Takes All Professional Races on Motorcycle Card at Riverview Track.

De Rosier swept the card in all the professional events at the Riverview motordrome yesterday afternoon, and in addition broke the record held by Collier, the English cyclist, by doing five-eighths of a mile in :28 1-5. The feature was the Hermes sweepstakes, at six miles. In the last lap De Rosier made a spurt and drew away from the others, beating Balke and Wolters in 4:26. The match race at two miles, between William Samuelson of Salt Lake and John Albricht of Denver, was a dead heat in 1:33 1-5. The judges ordered it run off at a mile, Albright winning in :48 2-5. Summaries:

Five mile open—De Rosier won; Walters, second; Balke, third. Time, 3:38 2-5.
Hermes sweepstakes, six miles—De Rosier won; Balke, second; Wolters, third. Time, 4:26.

CENTURY CYCLE RACE TO EVANS

Columbus, O., Sept. 17.—George D. Evans of Columbus won the 100 mile motorcycle race by three laps over half a score of contestants, making the distance in 1:48:48, more than a second faster than the previous record for a dirt track, set a year ago by Horwick on the same track.

Frank Hart of this city did a mile in :50 2-5, against the :54 2-5 track mark formerly held by Don Clark.

In the 100 mile race Mathews and Harley Funk came together in turning a corner at a speed of more than a mile a minute, and both were shot through the fence into a crowd of spectators. Announcement was made that, beyond a wrenched shoulder and arm by Mathews, no one had been injured.

Montgomery Park will become a public park and the site for annual fairs. Almost at the same time comes the announcement that a part of the famous Belle Meade breeding establishment near Nashville will be made into a golf grounds. BRITISH CLERGY DENOUNCES BOUT

PARIS MAY GET BATTLE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Jack Johnson-Bombardier Wells prize fight was denounced in countless sermons in this city today, the main speaker being the Rev. Mr. Myers of the Regent's Park chapel, who started the movement against the proposed battle at Earl's Court.

Mr. Myers protested that prize fighting was demoralizing and brutal, and also that it would imbitter the feeling of the whites against the blacks in America, South Africa, and India. "Of course, I shan't do it, but I would dearly like to break into the ring and say to the big negro and the white champion, 'You are brothers,'" said Mr. Myers.

Mistake Negro for Johnson.

There was a big crowd outside the chapel expecting to see Johnson go into the church, but he did not show up. A solitary negro entered, and the crowd at first thought that it was the champion, but the visitor modestly admitted that he was not.

It is reported that Winston Churchill, the home secretary, is consulting the law officers with regard to the legal aspects of the case. In the meanwhile the promoters say that it is a perfectly legal fight and that it will go on. They declare that they will not be deterred by "ignorance, prejudice, and misconception."

Would Fight Elsewhere.

Johnson, when interviewed in Paris, said that he was "tetchy" because the English papers were saying everything bad of him, and that he was not getting fair play. The London fight, he said, was a matter of indifference to him, as there were dozens of other places which would not object to a match.

"It's just this, you don't want me to win, and that's the truth," said Johnson. "But I am going to win. That's what I came here for. Lonsdale is sore at me because I would not fight for $6,000 at the National Sporting club. Why should I fight for $6,000, when I can get $15,000? I am over here for the money. If the fight is stopped in London we can fight in Paris and get a bigger crowd."

WELSH BOOSTS JIM FLYNN.

Jack Welsh, the coast referee, was in town yesterday renewing acquaintances. Welsh came east to referee the Wolgast-McFarland ten round bout which was scheduled to take place at Milwaukee on Friday night. The westerner did not learn the bout had been declared off until he reached Denver, and then decided to come on anyway. Welsh expressed no surprise at the result of the Flynn-Morris bout at New York, as he has a high regard for Flynn's fighting ability. With twenty pounds more weight Welsh thinks Flynn would beat Jack Johnson. Accompanied by his wife the coast referee left for New York last night.

SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 3516.

I APPRECIATE ACOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit, and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4308 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side Elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

MONEY FOR SALARIED PEOPLE—IF YOU hold a permanent salaried positon we will loan you any reasonable sum from $10 upward WITHOUT security or knowledge of employer or friends. "GOOD ROADS AGE" LAUNCHED TODAY

Every State in Union to Be Represented at Convention at Hotel La Salle.

Champ Clark Sends Message Praising Movement and Urging Support for It.

Men representing every state in the union and many foreign countries, united by a common ambition to make this the "Good Roads Age," will open a convention in Chicago today that is expected to give the modern cause of well paved highways the greatest impetus in its history.

The occasion which brings these men together is the Fourth International Good Roads Congress and Exposition, which will keep the convention hall on the nineteenth floor of the Hotel La Salle busy until Sept. 30. More than 5,000 delegates have been named by state and city authorities throughout the country, and it is believed that fully half will attend the congress.

Champ Clark, himself a pioneer good roads enthusiast, wrote a letter to Arthur C. Jackson, president of the convention, in which he lamented the fact that official duties will keep him from attending.

Calls Bad Roads Ruinous

"Bad roads," he wrote, "have cost the people of the United States, especially the farmers, more in the way of freight rates than the civil war cost.

"The man who will invent or discover a material for making good roads where stone and gravel cannot be had, and who will make them at a reasonable cost, will deserve a monument as high as Washington's.

"It is the crying necessity of the age. We have had the golden age, the steel age, and every other sort of age. What we need is a good roads age."

The convention will be addressed by an array of speakers as formidable as any that ever has occupied a platform. Cabinet officers, senators, and congressmen, ambassadors and foreign ministers, governors and state officials, mayors and city officials will represent local, federal, and foreign governments. Other speakers will be presidents and professors of educational institutions, engineers and good road experts, and distinguished men and women representing various professions and pursuits.

Diplomats Asked to Come.

Secretary of State Knox has sent personal letters of invitation to members of the consular and diplomatic service requesting that they attend the convention. The same method was used by Mayor Harrison in reaching men of importance in municipal affairs.

Leaders in the good roads movement characterize the conditions in Illinois, so far as country highways are concerned, as extremely bad.

The joint commission will attend the convention on "Illinois day"—Sept. 20—and, it is expected, will make an unofficial report of its findings.

Police Take Confidence Man.

Richard Johnson, colored, 2405 South Dearborn street, is under arrest and the police are looking for a second colored man charged with operating a confidence game. According to Cynthia Nelson, also colored, the men got nearly $70 from her.
